

Broadway Elimination Affirmed by P. S. Board

Public Service Commission Denies Application for Rehearing—Feels There Should Be No More Delay—City and County Have Their Remedy In An Appeal to Courts, Says Memorandum of Board.

Albany, March 26.—The Public Service Commission has affirmed its order of December 8 last directing the elimination of the Broadway crossing of the New York Central Railroad in Kingston by depressing the street and carrying it under the existing grade of the railroad.

Kingston and Ulster county petitioned the commission for a rehearing on the original order. This was granted and a rehearing had before the commission at Albany on March 7. The commission, in a memorandum affirming its order directing the elimination, says:

"The commission has been charged with the duty of eliminating grade crossings throughout the state. The problem presented by the grade crossings in the city of Kingston has been before it over a long period. The commission feels that there should be no more delay and therefore deems it best to deny the application for a rehearing and affirm its previous order made on December 8, 1928, ordering the elimination of the Broadway crossing. If the city of Kingston or the county of Ulster desires to take upon themselves the responsibility for allowing the present conditions to continue at the Broadway crossing they have their remedy in an appeal in the courts from this order of the commission. Herewith is proposed order denying the application."

Memorandum of Commission.

"The city of Kingston through its corporation counsel contended that a plan should have been submitted in this proceeding which would provide for the depression of the railroad tracks which of necessity would constitute a comprehensive plan for the elimination of all the crossings (seven in number) of the West Shore Railroad in the city of Kingston; and that no work should be done in connection with the elimination of the Broadway crossing by means of depressing the street and carrying it under the present grade of the railroad as provided in the commission's order dated December 28, 1928; until such comprehensive plan has been made and duly considered."

"The city contended that the railroad company should cooperate in preparing and submitting such a plan and that the state should be interested therein, but if the commission felt that the railroad company and the state should not participate in the cost of making such study, the city and county would furnish the plan if given an opportunity to do so."

Position of County.

"The county through its county attorney took the same position as the city and asked permission to prepare jointly with the city such a comprehensive plan for depressing the tracks of the railroad and submit the same at a further hearing."

"The county attorney on behalf and at the request of the attorneys for certain property owners raised the objection that the grade crossing elimination act is unconstitutional in that the provision for the determination of damages, if any, to the property owners by the Court of Claims is contrary to the provisions of Section 7 of article 1 of the Constitution."

"The railroad company through its engineer of grade crossings advised in answer to an inquiry that no actual estimate has been made of the cost of depressing the tracks of the railroad, but that they have gone over the ground very thoroughly and from past experience estimate that the cost would be at least five or six million dollars."

WAR MANDATES ISSUED BY CHINA NATIONALISTS.

Shanghai, March 26 (AP).—Announcement was made at Nanking today that the Nationalist government has issued war mandates against the Kwangsi opposition military group.

In addition to the president the chairmen of the government of five Yuans also signed. Another order also prepared demanded the punishment of the three generals responsible for the coup at Hankow.

The situation changed hourly rendering possible non-issuance of the mandate but it was believed the government had definitely decided to declare war against the Wuhan group.

TWO YOUTHS FINED $2 EACH FOR BREAKING BOTTLES

John Benkert, 22, and Francis Brady, 20, two young men of this city, who were arrested several days ago by Peter J. Hoey, night watchman at the Municipal Building, who charged them with throwing broken milk bottles into the street near the building, pleaded guilty in police court today and were fined $2 each by Judge Sheffeld.

Disagreement with Governor Blocks Action at Albany

Action on Appropriation Bills Deferred Until Legislature Has Disposed of Executive Budget—Attorney General Gives Opinion Concerning Governor's Action, Sustaining Republican Leaders.

Albany, March 26 (AP).—Balked from action on several major measures by the contest of the majority and the governor over the power of segregation of lump sum items in the executive budget, the legislature met today to continue the mopping up process begun on the 1929 session program last night.

This obstacle, standing between the legislature and consideration of measures such as the tax equalization program, assumed still greater proportions last night.

Majority leaders made public an opinion by Attorney General Hamilton Ward in which he stated he was unable to find anything in the executive budget provisions of the constitution which gives the governor control over the expenditure of money once appropriated.

Governor Roosevelt replied to the written opinion of the attorney general, requested by Senator John Knight and Speaker Joseph A. McGinnis, by saying "I myself consulted with leading jurists and am advised that all these questions are at least open to constitutional argument" and added that the presence of the two committee chairmen in segregation work "defeats the purpose" of the executive budget amendment.

All action on bills calling for appropriations is believed blocked by the provision of the constitution prohibiting consideration of such bills until the legislature has disposed of the executive budget bills. The senate, under legislative law, cannot consider the governor's supplementary budget bill until tomorrow and the assembly until Thursday as a result of the tardiness of its appearance on the desks of members.

Possibility of Extra Session.

Thursday has been set unofficially as the final day of the session, but some doubt existed today concerning the ability of the legislature to dispose of several major bills in the few hours remaining after adoption of the supplementary bill. In addition there lurks in the background the threat of an extra session, called by the governor in an endeavor to procure from the legislature a budget bill allowing him the sole power of segregation of the lump sum for two departments now in the process of reorganization.

The supplementary bill, calling for appropriations of more than $50,000,000, was sent to the legislature more than a week ago. It was reported out by the Senate finance committee late last week, amended so as to allow the chairman of the fiscal committee to decide with the governor on the segregation of the lump sums. The governor has indicated he will not accept this form of bill.

Governor Replies to Ward.

After stating that the amount of money involved "is very small out of a total of over $255,000,000," Governor Roosevelt said in his reply to the Ward decision:

"What the state is concerned with is the preservation of the purposes of the executive budget. The present action of the legislature is not in harmony with the expressed will of the people. When the amendment was passed, the average citizen understood that the governor would make a budget and take the responsibility therefor; that the legislature would cut out or reduce any items they saw fit; and that they would add new items, the latter being subject, however, to the governor's veto. There was no thought on the part of the average citizen of giving a two-thirds vote to representatives of the legislature over the detailed expenditure of the appropriations made. The purpose of the amendment was to fix responsibility on the governor."

Scores of Bills Passed

The legislature last night passed scores of bills in its eleventh-hour attack on the heavy calendar remaining. Among approximately 190 measures approved by the senate was the New York city multiple dwelling bill, passed after much debate and by a margin of six votes. The bill, a Republican measure, was bitterly opposed by Democrats of the house, who contended it was an attempt to update legislators to infringe on the right of New York city to govern itself under the home rule law. One Republican voted with the opposition.

The upper house also approved of the decedent estates law amendment bill, designed to guarantee a widow at least some share in her husband's estate.

The assembly passed more than 40 bills, killed minority party motions to discharge from committee a half-dozen labor measures and cleared the way for what was expected to be action on the Jenks state prohibition enforcement act today. Assemblyman Edmund B. Jenks, veteran dry leader of Broome county, said yesterday he would move to discharge from committee his bill. He was said to have assurance that enough votes could be mustered to support his motion.

Safety Responsibility Bill Passed

Both houses passed the "safety responsibility" bill supported by the state automobile association as a substitute for compulsory insurance. Under the terms of the bill, a driver's license and car registration would be suspended after an accident, to be restored only after satisfaction of judgment and presentation of financial responsibility in event of future accidents.

Fight Understood Carbon Dioxide As "Fire" Causes Gas Will Preserve Panic, Score Hurt Eggs, Is Discovery

Chicago, March 26 (AP).—Panic broke out at the Coliseum last night during the Jackie Fields-Young Jack Thompson match when two spectators began to fight and the cry of "fight" was understood as "fire." Two score persons were injured in the resultant pandemonium. Two of them were hurt so seriously that they may die.

There were 5,500 men and women in the building when the fight started in the east balcony. Cries of "fight" went up. By many the cry was understood as "fire," and the crowd became panic-stricken.

The fight between the Chicagoan, Fields, and the California negro, Thompson, was in the eighth round. The battle itself had roused the crowd to high excitement, and when the furor broke out in the balcony it spread quickly.

Plank seats piled in the balcony in anticipation of the opening in the Coliseum of a circus were knocked over, and their clutter added to the crowd's frenzy.

Most of those present knew that the circus was soon to open at the Coliseum, and that some of the animals already were quartered there. Shouts went up that box constrictors and a lion had escaped from their cages and were loose in the main floor. The fact that the building was in darkness save for the brilliant light which was centered on the ring itself added to the uncertainty of what had happened.

Thousands of radio listeners tuned in on WGN and KYW listened in on the tumult, although the microphones through which the broadcasts were being made were knocked to the floor in the first wild rush. Telegraph wires to newspaper offices were cut off, and first word of what was happening reached the outside through radio loud speakers.

A pall of smoke from a photographer's flashlight hung low over ringriders, lending substance to the cries of "fire." Some of those nearest the exits rushed outside and turned in an alarm and it was firemen who took the injured from the building to a hospital.

Teddy Hayes, trainer for Mickey Walker, was seated with Walker, the middleweight champion, in the fifth row, and was reported to have been hurt seriously.

Several circus horses quartered in the building began stamping in their stalls, adding to the din.

At the outbreak of alarm, the entire main floor crowd seemed to concentrate upon the elevated ring as the one place of safety. They rushed forward, trampling over chairs, leaping upon the reporters' press table, wrecking typewriters and telegraph instruments and sending microphones spinning to the floor. So quickly did the crowd surge forward that there were several score persons in the ring before the fighters realized what was going on and were stopped from fighting by the referee.

To the thousands of radio listeners the affair teemed with drama. For several minutes the microphones carried to listeners such a confusion of sound as to indicate that some disaster had taken place.

As soon as the KYW announcer, Gene Rouse, recovered his microphone, he called upon his listeners to notify firemen and police. At that time it was not clear to those inside the Coliseum what had happened—whether it was fire, a riot, or whether, as one early report said, gunmen had appeared and had started to shoot it out.

The Coliseum office today was pilled high with hats and coats and other clothing forgotten in the rush for safety. Women reported the loss of furs, jewels and purses.

The best account of the actual start of the trouble was that two negroes started to fight. There was a general pushing away from the fighters, and the cry of "fight" misunderstood as "fire" went up.

TRAIN CREW CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

Parry Sound, Ont., March 26 (AP).—Three surviving members of the crew of the train number 3, Canadian National Railways, were arrested today charged with manslaughter as a result of the wreck at Droccourt on March 20, when number 3 collided with number 4 and seventeen lives were lost. The men are Engineer L. V. Alexander, Fireman E. Riley and rear brakeman Charles Gorrie.

They were released on bail and will be tried here May 14.

DIVIDEND OF 20 PER CENT PAID CREDITORS OF BANKRUPT

Judge Amos Van Etten, referee in bankruptcy, held a final meeting Monday afternoon at his offices in the Opera House building on the petition of Edward M. R. Lillis of Saugerties trading under the name of the Lillis Boot Shop, bankrupt. The petition was filed last June and the matter has been before the referee since that time. A dividend amounting to 20 per cent was paid creditors of the bankrupt. This amount is considerably more than anticipated.

Poisonous Herb Kills Boys.

Earl Allen and Robert Chase, Port Jervis boys, planned to go fishing along the banks of the Neversink and started digging along worms. While digging they found what they believed to be artichokes and ate them. Instead the bulbs were those of belladonna, a violent poison. The boys were found dead along the banks of the river.

Two Years of Research Work at Cornell University Results in Important Discovery for Keeping Eggs Fresher for Longer Period of Time.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor.

Ithaca, N. Y., March 26 (AP).—A discovery for preserving eggs that appears to have practical uses for farmers, packers and housewives and was announced today at Cornell University.

The preservative is carbon dioxide gas. Disclosure that this gas ranks first in nature's own egg-preserving process, and that it can be controlled readily by methods previously unconsidered, are the secrets revealed by the Cornell research.

Carbon dioxide is part of freshly laid eggs, but it escapes rapidly through the shells. Its loss is found to be one of the most important causes of decomposition. Control of this loss is accomplished readily because the shells absorb gas about as easily as they lose it, and because only a slight percentage of gas is needed. Furthermore, prompt attention to containers of freshly-laid eggs helps to retard the loss. Because carbon dioxide is a natural part of the egg, its artificial use in mild doses has no ill effects upon quality.

The research was conducted by Dr. Paul F. Sharp, professor of dairy chemistry, with the technical assistance of A. E. Everhart of the poultry department. The experiments began two years ago, at the suggestion of Dr. C. K. Powell of the poultry department.

Six Factors in Egg Preservation.

Six factors are found in egg preservation—microscopic living things, quality of freshness, absorption of flavors and odors from containers, loss of water, temperature and increase in alkalinity. And alkalinity depends almost wholly upon carbon dioxide balance.

As the gas escapes, says Dr. Sharp, the whites become watery, the yolks soften and finally the thinned yolk breaks if the shell is opened. At room temperatures, he says, 10 to 12 per cent of carbon dioxide is necessary to preserve eggs, but at freezing about one per cent is enough, an amount costing but a few hundredths of a cent per dozen under favorable conditions, and safe for workmen.

The effective use of the gas seems at present to lie in approximating nature's method, rather than in forcing in large quantities. Yolks and whites are affected at different rates by absorbed gas, and the white thickens with too much of it, though this thickness disappears when natural evaporation is permitted again.

Keeps Longer, Delivered Fresher.

The two most important results thus far attained are longer preservation of eggs, and delivering them in a fresher state. It probably is a fact, Dr. Sharp says, that effectiveness of present storage methods comes largely from the fact that the evaporating carbon dioxide in the eggs slightly charges the air about them. This points to practical methods of getting newly laid eggs quickly into good containers, even if no gas charge is available. Even a day is vital, so rapid is evaporation.

So important is the research considered that patents have been applied for.

DIRECTORS ELECTED AT ANNUAL MEETING.

At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Rodie Coal Company, held at 11 Thomas street, the following were elected as directors: Robert S. Rodie, Robert H. Rodie, F. H. Steed, H. P. McConnell, S. M. Watts. Inspectors of election were H. W. Harrison and L. C. Elmendorf. The following have been elected directors of the Armstrong Coal Company by the stockholders at the annual meeting held at 11 Thomas street: Robert S. Rodie, Robert H. Rodie, H. W. Harrison, F. H. Steed. Inspectors of election were W. A. Frey and L. C. Elmendorf.

Fire on Abel Street.

The old stone house owned by Alfred Tizcar and located in the rear of his residence at 251 Abel street was somewhat damaged by fire of unknown origin Monday afternoon. The house was used by Mr. Tizcar as a furniture storage. He had left the building a short time before the fire was discovered and said that at the time he was in the building there was no sign of fire in the structure.

Dry Raiders Kill Unarmed Woman

Member of Hurling Party Shoots Her As She Bends Over Husband, Already Knocked Unconscious by One of Them.

Aurora, Ill., March 26 (AP).—A mother was shot and killed last night by county dry leaders as she bent over her husband, who had been knocked unconscious by one of them.

The third member of the family, a boy of 9, then took up the battle with six deputy sheriffs and wounded one in the leg before he could be disarmed.

The deputies said the woman was shot because they thought she was reaching for one of the guns her husband had dropped when he clumped to the floor after being hit with the butt of a deputy's pistol.

The slain woman was Mrs. Lillian Deking, 40. The man clubbed into insensibility as he attempted to keep the officers from entering his home was Joseph Deking, 45. The son who took up the fight when both parents lay on the floor, one of them never to regain consciousness, was Gerald Deking.

Three deputies had tried to raid the house, on the edge of town, earlier in the evening but Deking drove them off with a shot gun.

The raiders enlisted three more deputies and returned to the Deking home. This time they surrounded the house and stationed men at each door. Deking was knocked down by one of the deputies. As he dropped to the floor, his wife ran to him. From one of the three deputies in the doorway came a shot and she fell, fatally wounded.

The son then grabbed one of his father's guns and before the deputies could reach him, he had fired at the group in the doorway. Deputy Roy Smith was hit in the leg.

The state's attorney's office refused to name the deputy who shot Mrs. Deking.

Hoover Insists on New Machinery

Washington, March 26 (AP).—Reorganization of the Republican party machinery in South Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi was decreed today by President Hoover as a result of disclosures in connection with the handling of federal patronage in those states.

The composition of the new party machinery in these states will be left to citizens there, but in the event of the failure of this plan, other steps will be taken by the national organization to set up an effective organization.

At the same time, the president disclosed that patronage recommendations from other states of the "Solid South" would be made by special committees which will cooperate with Democrats who supported the Republican ticket in the last presidential campaign.

MASKED ROBBERS MAKE $3,000 HAIL AT NEWARK

Newark, N. J., March 26 (AP).—Four robbers, two of whom were masked, held up the offices of the Grant Lunch Company on Market street today and escaped with $3,000 in cash and jewelry valued at $1,000. Two men and three women in the offices were bound with wire by the robbers.

BRICKLAYERS DEMAND $14 DAY AND A 5-DAY WEEK

Organized bricklayers, masons and plasterers of Poughkeepsie may go out on strike April 1 for an increase of $2 a day or $14, and a five day week, according to reports circulated in that city. It was also stated that the men had refused a compromise wage of $13 a day made by the contractors.

REBEL COMMANDER RETURNS TO MAIN ARMY.

Paris, March 26 (AP).—France

honored Marshal Ferdinand Foch with a national funeral today, the sixth in the history of the republic. Crowds surpassing even those of Armistice Day—which the dead marshal was so instrumental in bringing about—thronged Paris streets and the concourse about the Cathedral of Notre Dame to witness the ceremony.

Inside the cathedral some of the highest figures of royalty, military life, and European officialdom gathered to participate in the religious rite. The brilliant uniforms of the soldiers and diplomats were mingled with the black and white full evening dress of other notables.

Not even in the days when the English King, Henry VI, was crowned, were there a more impressive service at Notre Dame. The rite, in which church and state were joined to do honor to the man who twice saved France from an invader, began with the appearance of President Doumergue, who entered the doors of the cathedral as the strains of music pealed from the great organ.

After the "De Profundis" came the "Introit" and the "Kyrie" from the Requiem of Faure, sung by the choir; then the "Dies irae" of Menner was heard.

Notables Within the Cathedral.

Those inside the cathedral did not number more than 5,000. In their midst were the president of the nation, the heir to the throne of the British Empire, the Crown Prince of Belgium, and other figures whose earthly roles had had a vital relation with the lives of their fellow men.

They stood in awe and silence in front of the bier where the body of the late marshal lay in its open coffin atop a catafalque at the crossing of the nave and transept. The coffin was draped with the flags of the nation for which he fought and with the banner of the holders of the military medal before it.

Parish Priest Recites Funeral Rites.

The cathedral was filled with the notes of the funeral march from Beethoven's Eroica. Benedictus, The Abbey Vendors, priest of Sainte Clothilde, the parish in the French capital where the marshal attended Mass daily, appeared deeply moved as, under the eye of Cardinal Dubois, he ascended the steps of the altar to recite the last funeral rites over the body of his friend.

Outside the "Aux Champs"—to the fields—"was sounded by a lone bugler and unconsciously most of those inside the famous old cathedral stiffened, even came to attention. The habit of war days, when Marshal Foch was Generalissimo, was too strong.

Outside the streets were a solid mass of people. At the place De La Hotel De Ville on the Rue De Rivoli they were packed ten deep. The tall, freshly blackened electrolights which lined the Rue De Rivoli, their lamps draped black, gave the impression, as they shone down on the crowd even in the bright daylight, of two rows of gigantic funeral candles.

The streets were newly sanded and the traffic islands in their center had been removed for the passage of the cortege to the Invalides when the religious service was over.

There were Red Cross stations all along the route.

Infantrymen Maintain Order.

Long lines of infantry in horizon blue were stationed to maintain order and keep the too eager watchers—who paid as much as $50 for points of vantage from which to watch the procession—from crowding the cortege or impeding its progress. Detachments of the Republican guard were stationed at important points.

Dark broke dark and ominous, with a cloudy gray sky; a light westerly breeze barely tempered the heavy, oppressive atmosphere. But later the sun came out brightly.

Shortly before the cortege formed, however, the heavy haze obscured the sun again and a mist appeared over the gray old Notre Dame. Gradually it spread westward like an enormous pall and in the darkened atmosphere the flicked street lamps seemed more than ever like funeral torches.

Bells Toll as Cortege Forms.

At 10:05 a. m. the cortege formed outside Notre Dame and began moving toward the Invalides. While all the church bells in Paris tolled it turned into the long, broad ribbon of the Rue de Rivoli behind an automobile filled with police officials which cleared the way and two mounted patrols of the Republican Guard preceded by buglers.

The mounted guards filled the street from side to side. Behind them came the horizon blue uniforms of French infantry, led by General Simon, military commander of Paris. The mounted trumpeters played

Women Hear of Overnight News State Legislation Gathered by A. P.

Some of the Laws Enacted and Bills Not Passed by Legislature Described to Members of Twentieth Century and Sorosis Clubs.

On Monday afternoon there was a joint meeting of the members of Sorosis and the Twentieth Century Club held at the home of Mrs. A. Noble Graham, president of Sorosis. At this meeting Miss Lyon of Albany gave one of her valuable talks on Current Events, full of interest and information. Mrs. Graham extended greetings to the guests of the afternoon and thanked the Twentieth Century Club for its cooperation in making it possible for both clubs to have the talks by Miss Lyon, whose talk of Monday had been postponed from an earlier date when she was ill. Mrs. Graham was of the opinion that perhaps the clubs had gained by the waiting as so much had happened in the way of Current Events since January when Miss Lyon was to have come, and Miss Lyon was of the same opinion.

Miss Lyon is a particularly clear thinking person and takes a fair view of both sides of any question that she considers in a very straight forward way. On Monday afternoon she devoted her time to legislative matters at Albany, and told particularly of the many things that the legislature will not have done when it adjourns on Thursday of this week.

She told her audience that there had been somewhat over 3,000 bills presented to this year's legislature, of which a possible seven or eight hundred might become laws.

Tax Reduction and Gas Tax.

Tax reduction was the subject first discussed, with the possibility of a reduction of some sort in the income tax, and then Miss Lyon assured the women that they might as well get ready for a gasoline tax as it is sure to come. Having secured such a tax, which at two cents a gallon will amount to an enormous sum, the next problem will be how it shall be expended so as to make some other state expenses less.

A considerable time was devoted to talking about the so-called women's bills, apparently all founded and still greatly influenced by the Common Law of England from which we took our laws. They included the bill, the separate domicile bill, guardianship of minor children, etc. The enlargement of the child welfare laws was reviewed briefly, and the coming problem of county government was noted, especially the fact that today in New York state there is no such thing as an executive officer of the county government.

Old age pensions and an amendment of the present labor measures to include occupational diseases in the labor compensation laws was explained.

Another measure considered was the fair wage bill, successor to the minimum wage law.

One of the biggest problems of the day, both state and national, Miss Lyon considered to be that of water power development, and Miss Lyon resented the long law's delays over a conversion of natural resources into electricity at a much lower cost than at present. Nor did she see any immediate hope of utilizing the St. Lawrence or Niagara rivers for the generation of electricity in New York state.

Prohibition in Nation and State.

Miss Lyon frankly stated that she had left Prohibition as the climax of her talk. She saw no real hope of any state enforcement law to replace the Mullen-Gage law. She was of the opinion that individually we should stand by President Hoover in the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, and was very hopeful that he would succeed in taking the enforcement of the law out of the entirely in the Department of Justice. She explained clearly the drastic Jones law, which will Rogers calls the "Five and Ten" law because the penalties are a possible five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine. Miss Lyon viewed with alarm the groups of really reputable lawyers who were openly offering to help the violators of the Jones law.

"Finally she mentioned the abolishing of the state census, in spite of the political patronage connected therewith and the depending upon the federal census which will be taken before long.

At the close of the talk, Mrs. Rice of Sorosis moved a rising vote of thanks to Miss Lyon which was promptly given. After the talk the clubs held brief business meetings. Next Monday Sorosis will hold its last meeting of the season at the home of the president, Mrs. Graham, at which time officers will be elected and a social hour enjoyed.

The next meeting of the Twentieth Century Club will be with Mrs. Carberry.

"He said that if you asked for him, Mr. Kellogg, I was to say that he is at home working on your damned treaty."

Plaintiff Knew Width of Road

Because He Measured It This Morning With Rule He Carried in Special Pocket—Town of Court Finds Thursday.

Henry Moncher, a plumbing contractor of Tuxedo, is prepared for practically any emergency and specially to compute measurements. Called on the stand this morning to testify as to the width of the Ashokan boulevard at a point where his car was in collision with the Stutz car of Eugene Gazette last September, he testified the road was 15 feet wide with two feet shoulders on each side at the point where the accident happened.

Cross-examined as to how he knew the exact width of the road, Mr. Moncher said he had measured the road this morning as he drove down from Fleischmann. Asked how he had been prepared for this emergency, he drew from his pocket a five foot six inch rule which he informed the court he always carried with him and used frequently in his business. In order to convince the court that this was a fact he explained that he had a special pocket made in his pants to carry the rule. The court was convinced.

The action is to recover $300 damages to a Buick car of plaintiff and also to recover damages for personal injuries which he alleges was sustained on September 8, 1928, when his car was struck by a Stutz car of Eugene Gazette of New York at the Ashokan Garage. Gazette is a vaudeville man who was on his way to Norwich, N. Y., with a vaudeville troupe at the time of the accident. Plaintiff alleges his car was traveling slow and the Stutz was traveling fast and skidded on a turn and struck the plaintiff's car.

Gazette testified that his car was being driven at a slow speed at the time and that it did not skid but that the Buick car swerved to its left and caused the accident. He said the Buick car however stopped where it was struck while his Stutz car continued up the road a distance of some 30 or 40 feet and then skidded around in the road and headed in an easterly direction toward the direction from which it had come. Both cars lost wheels in the accident.

Defendant enters a counterclaim asking for damages to his Stutz car. No. 377, Isabella Constant against Jacob Kreppel and others, a negligence action was announced as settled.

Judge Staley announced that this term of court would terminate on Thursday since Friday was Good Friday, and many people would not desire to be present in court on that day. There are several cases still to be tried on the ready calendar.

Liner Europa Burns at Hamburg

Hamburg, March 26 (AP).—All indications were that the giant new North German Lloyd liner Europa would be a complete loss as fire which broke out in her forecabin early today raged through the afternoon.

The Europa's steel tanks were literally red hot. Tongues of flame licked out through the portholes and the heat was so great that firemen could not enter the interior. Tons of water from 20 powerful hydrants were poured into the flaming ship.

All Hamburg's fire fighting apparatus worked at full pressure and ships coming up the river were requested to man their pumps and stand by.

Tens of thousands of people, who were gazing at the fire, gasped when the great hulk suddenly listed 30 degrees.

American Army Honors Foch

Washington, March 26 (AP).—Guns boomed at reveille from coast to coast today as the American army paid its last tribute to Marshal Foch. At each army post 21-gun salutes were fired, followed by single shots on the stroke of each succeeding half-hour through the day.

Flags at army posts and all government buildings were lowered to half-staff for the day. At noon in Washington a requiem Mass was said at the Church of St. Paul, attended by Secretary Kellogg as representative of President Hoover. Secretary of War Good and General Summerall, chief of staff, and 20 generals of the army and other high officers.

Aged Man Run Down by Auto

George Deyo, of Harwich street, driving an automobile owned by Tony Scandi of Foxhall avenue, struck Joseph Moon, also of Harwich street, at the intersection of Albany and Foxhall avenues at 10:44 o'clock this morning. Mr. Moon, who is 75 years of age, received a possible fracture of the skull and internal injuries. He was immediately rushed to the Kingston Hospital in the city ambulance.

Following the accident Deyo was brought to police headquarters where he was held on a technical charge of manslaughter.

PLANES TO AID SEARCH FOR MISSING FLIERS

New York, March 26 (AP).—The Curtiss Flying Service today said two amphibian airplanes operating from a base at Atlantic City had been ordered to aid in the search for T. Raymond Finucane, Rochester real estate operator, and three other men who disappeared Friday on a flight from Norfolk, Va., to New York.

The planes left Barnegat light this morning for Atlantic City to take on gasoline and oil before beginning for an all-day cruise between Cape Charles and Norfolk. Weather permitting, short flights will be made to sea.

Postpone Vote on State Dry Law

Assemblyman Jenks Says He Needs Every Dry Vote to Pass His Bill, and Postpones Action When Two Assemblymen Are Absent.

Albany, March 26 (AP).—Absence of Assemblyman Haskell H. Marks of Rochester today caused one more postponement of a record vote on state prohibition enforcement in the lower house.

Edmund B. Jenks of Broome, sponsor of the state enforcement bills, was prepared to move to discharge committee from consideration of his companion measures. A close call of the House was ordered, but it was found that Marks and Mrs. Rhoda Fox Graves of Gouverneur were absent from those counted on to support the motion. Mrs. Graves was expected later in the day, but the leaders were informed Marks would not be here.

Jenks held a hurried consultation with Speaker Joseph A. McGinnies and then announced to newspaper reporters that he would not make his motion today. He said he would surely move tomorrow.

"There isn't any danger of your changing your mind, is there?" he was asked.

"If I don't move tomorrow it will be because I am dead," Jenks replied.

Needs Every Dry Vote.

Seventy-six votes are necessary to discharge committee, and Jenks said today he needed every dry vote in the House if he expected to have his motion prevail.

"I haven't a vote to spare when I go to bat on this question," he said. Doubt was expressed today whether the dry leader could get the House to vote to bring his bills on the floor again even with a full attendance of dry legislators.

At least one member, Alexander H. Garjost of Yonkers, has announced that he will not vote for any motion to discharge committee, and it was suggested there may be two or three others in the same category.

BEN FEIN FORTUNATE IN HAVING HONEST TAILOR

Ben Fein of the New York Sample Shop on Wall street is a fortunate man in at least two ways. In the first instance he is a fortunate man to possess a considerable sum of money and second in having it still in his possession. The fact that he still has the money is due to the absolute honesty of his tailor, Carl J. Smith, who conducts the tailor shop in the Governor Clinton Hotel building.

Ben recently took a suit of clothing to his tailor for some work and was very much surprised when Mr. Smith called him and informed him that he had discovered a large sum of money in the clothing. Although few people forget large sums of money in their clothing and mislay it, that is what Mr. Fein had done. The money was returned to him and Ben is elated over the unquestionable honesty of his tailor.

STRIKING BRICKYARD MEN HAVE RETURNED TO WORK

Employees of the C. B. Gladfelter and Mayone brick companies of Athens, who have been on strike over a question of wages, returned to work on Saturday, having agreed to work for the existing wage instead of the amount which they were paid last fall before reduction. About one hundred men are employed at the yards.

The display of flowers for Easter which Valentin Burgevin, Inc., have on view at their floral shop, Main and Fair streets, is considered by admirers of cut blooms and potted plants in flower as the finest ever made by the exhibitors. These potted plants are all grown at the hot houses on Pearl street.

A former college president, passing through the city, was invited to lunch at the home of one of his alumnae. The five-year-old daughter of the house was delegated to show the distinguished guest up to wash his hands. ## Kingston S. & L. Shows Increase

The reports of the officers of the Kingston Cooperative Savings and Loan Association, presented at the semi-annual meeting held Wednesday night and covering the past six months' period, show a continued increase in assets and in mortgage loans as well as a generous profit.

A semi-annual dividend, payable April 1, at 5 1/2 per cent was declared and credited to all shareholders.

The prepaid shares (deposits of multiples of $1.00) show a very considerable increase. These shares are now legal investment for trust funds, estates, guardianships, etc., and many trustees are taking advantage of the high rate of earnings paid on such shares.

While the officers also report that the movement of real estate in Kingston and vicinity is not quite as brisk as it has been for some years past, till the demand for mortgage loans from those who wish to become home owners rather than renters of dwellings, continues to be very heavy, and the association, although it has passed the million dollar mark in assets, could accomplish a great deal more toward aiding prospective homeowners, if it had more available funds. Prepaid shares help to produce these funds in larger quantities and are now offered to the public in unlimited amounts. A new series of installment shares is also opened and may be obtained at once, the first payment being due on or before April 8.

Both instructive and inspirational, the church had been beautifully decorated with palms and pots of white flowers. The auditorium was filled at both the morning and evening services. Dr. Black of the St. James Church, in exchange with the pastor, preached an eloquent sermon on "Yesterday and To-Day."

In the evening the vested choir of twenty-five voices under the leadership of Miss Jessie M. Cowley, director, and Mrs. H. G. LeRoy, organist, gave the cantata "Olivet (a Calvary)" by Maunder. Great credit is due the choir and its leader for the splendid way the composition was rendered. The attacks and the shading were unusually fine. The principal soloists were Miss Cowley, soprano; Mr. Franz tenor, and Mr. Schlobel, baritone, and they all took their parts splendidly. The solo, "Ye who sin, and re who sorrow," sung by Miss Cowley held the large audience spellbound. Probably the stirring chorus "Crucify Him" with the incidental solo parts taken by Mr. Carey as Pilate was one of the most, if not the most effective choruses in the cantata. It almost seemed as if you could see the mob clamoring for the Christ as the choir representing the mob shouted "Release unto us, Barabbas." Pilate replies "What shall I do then with Jesus which is called the Christ?" And answer comes back with all the fury of an angry mob "Crucify Him! Crucify Him!" This of course was the climatic part of the cantata.

The services at the Church of the Comforter on Palm Sunday were

"A COUPLE OF MILLION" AT PLATTENHILL GRANGE HALL

Final plans have been made for the presentation of a four-act play entitled "A Couple of Million" at Plattenhull Grange on the evenings of April 8 and 9. This play is a production from the pen of the popular author, Walter Ben Hare, and is being produced under special arrangement with the publishers. The cast of characters has put forth much effort under the able direction of J. Gerow Wilkin to insure a successful presentation. The stage has been added much to the general effect.

The cast of characters follows: Benis Benington, Wilmot T. Denniston, Hon. Jeremy Wise, C. E. Thorne, James Patrick Burns, Edgar Kaup, Professor Noah Jabb, Charles T. Everett, Benier Loman, William Leetch, Squire Piper, Arthur Foster, Fay Fairbanks, Dorothy Powell, Mrs. Clarice Courtenage, Mrs. W. J. ## How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

THE PRINCE OF WALES

WE ARE so accustomed to the eldest son of the sovereign of Great Britain, the heir to the English throne, being called the "Prince of Wales" that we think no more of inquiring into the circumstances of the origin of the term than we would wonder about any one of his various Christian names. Yet the title reveals to the prying eye of research an interesting excerpt from the pages of history.

The title "Prince of Wales" was first conferred in 1301, by Edward I on his son Prince Edward, afterwards Edward II, who was born at Carnarvon, Wales. The history of Wales up to the reign of Edward I had been one of resistance and struggle in the refusal to recognize the sovereignty of England. Under Edward I, however, England finally conquered Wales and it was for the purpose of placating the still seething resentment of the little country that Edward I named his son "Prince of Wales." It is a matter of history that this sufficiently satisfied the pride of the Welsh to keep them loyal to England for a hundred years.

The idea of making Wales a regular appanage or endowment, now nominal, of course, of the heir apparent to the British throne originated with Edward III, who invested his son, the Black Prince, with the principality. From that time the title prince of Wales has been borne as a matter of course by the king's eldest son. (Copyright.)

New Regulation Affects Ice Cream

After April 1, all milk or cream used in the manufacture of ice cream or other "frozen milk products" sold in New York state outside of New York city must be pasteurized either before or after being mixed with other ingredients, according to a regulation enacted by the Public Health Council on March 21. The measure is designed to prevent the spread of communicable diseases through ice cream, milk and cream being the ingredients usually responsible. In 1928, State Health Department records show an epidemic of 352 cases of septic sore throat was traced to contaminated milk used in preparation of ice cream. There have been other similar but less extensive outbreaks since. That ice cream prepared by individuals or in small plants has been responsible for all of these is probably accounted for, health department officials say, by the fact that in large plants it is common practice to pasteurize the ice cream "milk" at a high temperature. The new sanitary code regulation also requires that "The apparatus, utensils and containers used in the manufacture or delivery of a frozen milk product shall be kept at all times in a clean and sanitary condition" and provides that no person who is suffering from or is a carrier of the germs of a disease which may be transmitted through milk or cream may be employed in the handling of ice cream or its ingredients. Ice cream manufacturers are prohibited from continuing to employ persons refusing to submit laboratory specimens required to determine their freedom from such diseases.

In Keeping With Its Fine Car Engineering Standards, Oldsmobile Now Offers A Feature Characteristic of High-Priced Cars—

PRESSURE LUBRICATED PISTON PINS

PRESSURE-LUBRICATION of the piston pins has long been considered a mark of quality in automobile engines. Only twelve other makes of cars are listed in the annual issue of Motor with this advanced engineering feature. And only one of these is within $300 of Oldsmobile's low new price.

In the 1929 Oldsmobile, oil is forced to the piston pins through rifle-drilled connecting rods, instead of being splashed from the crankcase in the conventional manner. And the main, connecting rod and camshaft bearings are also lubricated under pressure.

This feature is important to the man who seeks motor car value — because it adds to dependability.

Typical of Oldsmobile's quality construction are such features as its General Motors Research high-compression cylinder head . . . rigid crankshaft . . . double-ribbed crankcase . . . the engine protection afforded by oil filter, air cleaner, gasoline strainer and crankcase ventilation . . . thermostatic charging . . . controlled cooling . . . fuel pump . . . full automatic spark . . . rubber engine mountings of special design . . . silenced chassis and silenced interior.

And Oldsmobile's big high-compression engine now develops 62 horsepower—combining brilliant speed, power and acceleration with remarkable smoothness, quietness and economy of operation.

This fine car engineering gives Oldsmobile buyers an assurance of long life, dependability and thorough satisfaction.

High Death Rate Due to Influenza

Albany, N. Y., March 25 (A.P.)—The report of the New York State Health Department on health conditions during January, just made public, opens with the sentence:

"The year 1929 opened with one of the darkest records of mortality since the beginning of the century. The general death rate was the highest for the month in 28 years with one exception, while the birth rate, lower than the death rate, reached the lowest point ever recorded for January. Infant mortality reached its peak for the past nine years."

The birth rate was 15.4 per 1,000 population, compared with 18.7 in January, 1928, and 19.5, the January average for the past five years. The death rate was 19.5 per 1,000 population. In January, 1928, it was 13.7 and the average for January during the past five years was 12.9. The infant mortality rate, based on the number of deaths under one year, per 1,000 live births, was 84, compared with 72 in January last year and a January average for five years of 71.

More than half the excess in total mortality was attributed by the department to the "influenza epidemic and the accompanying increase in deaths from respiratory diseases. There were 1,722 deaths from influenza and the mortality rate from this cause was exceeded only by that of January, 1919."

Mortality rates of other diseases were reported as follows: Pneumonia, 254.4 per 1,000 population; diseases of the heart, 444.5; cancer, 139.2; diseases of the arteries, 76.6; diabetes, 49.1, and tuberculosis, 95.8. The suicide rate, 18.1, was the highest recorded for the month in 22 years.

Among children's diseases, diphtheria showed the lowest death rate, 8.2, in the history of the state, with one exception. The mortality rate from other diseases, however, was high. Whooping cough showed a death rate of 6.1, the highest in eight years; scarlet fever, 3.4, the highest in five years.

These were 4,000 more cases of reportable sickness during the month than in January, 1928. Pneumonia showed an increase of more than 7,000 cases over the previous year, but decreases were recorded in the number of cases of measles, mumps, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, smallpox, whooping cough, and diphtheria.

The number of cases of diphtheria, 1,196, was lower only once in 20 years. There were 143 cases of cerebrospinal meningitis, compared with 23 last year. Only two cases of smallpox were recorded as compared with 44 last year and an average for five years of 37.

Russell R. Atkins and S. McKeand Kevan spent last week end in New York and attended the flower show.

On Sunday, March 24, Mrs. Francis J. Hargraves of Kingston entertained relatives and friends in honor of her husband's birthday. About 1 o'clock the guests sat down to a bountiful dinner. The table was prettily decorated. In the center was a bouquet of red and white carnations, which were presented to Mr. Hargraves by the relatives. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. George M. Van Vleet, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest D. Miller of Newburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Webb Kniffen and daughter, Elaine, of New Paltz, Mrs. Mary E. Kniffen of Kingston and Mr. and Mrs. Hargraves. In the afternoon all enjoyed a drive to the Ashokan dam. On returning about 5 o'clock, supper and refreshments were served, including several birthday cakes. The one most appreciated by Mr. Hargraves was the sweet little square cake presented to him under a glass covered dish by Mr. Van Vleet. The guests left at a late hour, wishing Mr. Hargraves many happy returns of the day and in hopes they might surprise him on another birthday.

Philip Deyo, Jr., of New York city spent the week end with his parents on North Chestnut street.

Miss Sarah E. Deyo and Miss Eliza Marks have arrived home from Fort Lauderdale.

Miss Emily Coe entertained on Tuesday afternoon.

Follow the Gypsy Pattern

What is a pattern? It is usually composed of two small sticks, seldom longer than six inches apiece, and placed crosswise one on top of the other. The open triangles which these sticks form tell the tale which the gypsy wants to leave behind. No caravan will leave camp or pass a crossroads without leaving a pattern behind. This secret language of the road developed during thousands of years. No white man was ever able to read it.—American Magazine.

Spring Flood Battle Begins on Mississippi

The big spring push of flood waters on the Mississippi finds army engineers, under leadership of Maj. Gen. Edgar J. J. (Inset) ready to do what can be humanly accomplished to rout the enemy. Laying concrete slabs for bank reinforcement (above) is a common method of curbing the river. Thousands of sand bags are ready to be piled on top of the levees when the wave wash becomes threatening (below).

Washington (AP).—The engineer what happens nationally in a wet year like 1927. What will happen this year no one can tell, but we are preparing.

All along the 1,200 miles of the unmanageable part of the Mississippi below Cairo, Ill., levees are being reinforced and patrolled, weather conditions studied. Maj. Gen. Edgar J. J. (Inset), chief of the engineer corps, is kept fully informed of storm warnings. Emergency preparations are being made in the various districts along the great river. Engineers recognize the Mississippi as the "main storm sewer" of the country. It drains off water from 30 states and a part of Canada.

Battles won and lost there are similar to major engagements on a battle front. Old river men like to tell of their fights with the Father of Waters just as other veterans do of their battle engagements. Congress has appropriated $100,000,000 for the fight with the Mississippi since the big flood of 1927. Investigations for flood control of other streams are being made, but nothing definite has yet been done.

With the Mississippi the army is mapping out a campaign just as though the swift muddy currents were advancing columns of a human enemy. Niagara Falls flows 225,000 cubic feet a second. The mighty Mississippi when in flood discharges a volume of water equivalent to two "Niagaras." And it's not a glorious Niagara, but savage and relentless. So the reinforcements of concrete blocks, which generally take the place of the old worn willow barricades, are being put along the levees. Every district is being mobilized for emergency.

ACTIVITIES AT RONDOUT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

At the Vesper service in the Rondout Presbyterian Church on Sunday afternoon Frank R. Powley gave an interesting address on a transient's religious experiences while in Florida.

The ladies of the fancy booth will hold a food sale at the Rose and Gorman store on Saturday, June 15. The Westminster Guild will hold a meeting in the chapel on Friday evening, April 5, which will be addressed by Miss Mabel Finley of Newburgh, who will give her impressions of the Blairstown conference.

The usual Thursday evening services will be held in the chapel and the topic will be "The Mount of Olives". Friday afternoon the congregation will unite with six other congregations in a Good Friday service in the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. The service will be held from 1:15 to 3 o'clock.

The annual meeting of the congregation will be held in the chapel on Thursday evening, April 11, for the purpose of electing three trustees. The meeting will be preceded by a church family supper at 6 o'clock.

At the Vesper service on Easter Sunday afternoon the church choir will render "The Holy City". The choir will be assisted by several well known soloists.

The annual meeting of the North River Presbyterian society will be held in the church on Friday, April 12.

RIFTON.
Rifton, March 26.—Mrs. W. Tigar has returned after spending three weeks in Brooklyn and Long Island. Mrs. E. Fless is visiting her son in Brooklyn.

Lou Palkowicz purchased two more goats, a Billy and a Nannie. The Jolly Eight had their usual games and a wonderful good time at Mr. and Mrs. Walker's house Friday evening. Radio was enjoyed and pinocle was played. "Always Up to the Minute" is their slogan.

The clam chowder supper, which was for the benefit of the Methodist Church, was a success. Such clam chowder was never tasted before, so all the patrons said. The chowder was made by Mrs. J. Eckert.

It is reported that American chewing gum is gaining a foothold in other countries. The gum is made in the United States and is sold in the form of a "gum ball" which is made of a soft, sticky material.

The judge "equal rights" will be only a snare and a delusion. Man may be able to fly much faster than a bird, but he is still unable to alight safely on the limb of a dead cottonwood tree or balance himself on a telephone wire. I don't object to spending my own money occasionally. What I object to is having other people tell me how I should spend it. A man went into a cigar store and asked if they carried parts for patent cigar lighters. When informed that they did, he said: "Well, give me a new thumb. I've worn this one out." The week-day in time inherit the earth but the chances are they will have to assume the mortgage on it. Somebody has said that a vice president is merely a spare tire—useful only in emergencies.

Rapper: Yes, and you made a worse one when you grinned when she told it.

A clerk at a main office interviews the manager on the subject of an increase, and the following conversation ensues:

Clerk—"I have been here 10 years doing three men's work for one man's pay. Now I want a raise."

Manager—"I'm sorry. I can't give you a raise just now, but if you'll tell me who the other two men are I'll discharge them."

There's no profit in debating a grapefruit. Both the eyes and nose seem to have it.

Practical Joking Cashier: "Have you heard the latest story about the clerk in the Chinaware department who poured a pitcher of water into the big boss's derby?"

Bookkeeper, eagerly: "No, I haven't."

Cashier, chuckling: "Neither have I. It hasn't leaked out yet."

Opportunity usually is within calling distance. All that is needed to bring her to your side is a desire to be of service to the world and a willingness to work.

SHANDAKEN.
Shandaken, March 25.—A roast beef supper served by the men will be held in the church hall on Thursday evening, March 28, from 6 to 9 o'clock. All the "fixin's" that go with the supper including ice cream and cake at a low price. Everybody invited to come and get your money's worth and have a good time.

Herbert Townsend and family of Kingston were guests of Robert Livingston on Sunday. The male choir of the Methodist Episcopal Church attended a rehearsal of special Easter music at the home of the pastor and his wife. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hewitt, at Pine Hill on Friday evening.

moved back to Lanesville on his place there.

A goodly number were out to attend the Christmas Eve service on Sunday evening. The leader was Edward West and it was a very interesting service. The leader next Sunday night will be W. D. Coon.

Frank Ratcliffe of Kingston visited friends in this community on Sunday and was present at Christian Endeavor meeting on Sunday night. Mr. Ratcliffe was principal of the school here several years ago and has many friends here.

The Shandaken Home Bureau met at the home of Mrs. James S. Ford last Tuesday, March 18, with a good attendance. Miss Nance of Kingston gave a very interesting lesson on nutrition. Two new members, Mrs. Loomis of Phoenixia and Mrs. Willard Gulaick, Jr., of Allaben. Visitors present were Mrs. Hunt of Lomontville, Miss Board of Milton, Miss Harriet Loomis of Shandaken, Mrs. Gordon Yerry and Mrs. Loomis were appointed to arrange for a play some time during the summer. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. E. Wood.

Miss Beulah Coons is visiting her grandparents at Kelly's Corners, Delaware county.

The many friends of Master Watson Van Keuren are glad to see him back again after his operation at the Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Olmstead and daughter, Esther, who have been temporarily residing at Watson Hollow for the winter, were at their home here on Sunday.

News from the World on Wheels

The Nash Motors Company has added two new and important models to its moderate priced Special Six—449" Series line—a dashing Roadster and a distinguished Seven-Passenger Sedan. The Roadster supplies an unusual type of open car charm, and the new Sedan supplies closed car spaciousness and luxury heretofore unequalled in its price class. The introduction of both models, powered by the famous Nash twin-ignition high compression, valve-in-head motor and distinguished by the many new engineering and equipment features which Nash alone offers, rounds out the company's great "400" Series line and adds two brand new achievements to a manufacturing success never before equaled in Nash history.

New Commander Coupes for two and four passengers on both the Commander Six and Commander Eight chassis are announced by the Studebaker Corporation of America, according to the Van Motor Co., local Studebaker-Erskine dealer. The Commander Coupe for two is an ideal car for salesmen and other business and professional men. There is abundant space in the rear deck for luggage. The dust and rain proof cover of the rear deck can be locked with the same key that controls the coincidental steering and ignition lock, and the door lock.

Because of this road the west-bound conveyance from the Philippines were spared the dangerous navigation around Cape Horn. There still is evidence that this old trail was used by the Indians before the Spaniards broadened it from a pack-mule path to a highway.

Champion of all cars under $1000 Studebaker's ERSKINE SIX $860 at the factory Bumpers and spare tire extra

ONLY quality—hidden deep in motor and chassis—could produce such capacity for sustained high speed as The Erskine has proved! Its official record of 1000 miles in 984 consecutive minutes stands unequalled by any stock car under $1000.

This brilliant performance with which Studebaker, Builder of Champions, has endowed The Erskine, is matched by style that is truly modern... and by comfort that many a larger, costlier car does not approach.

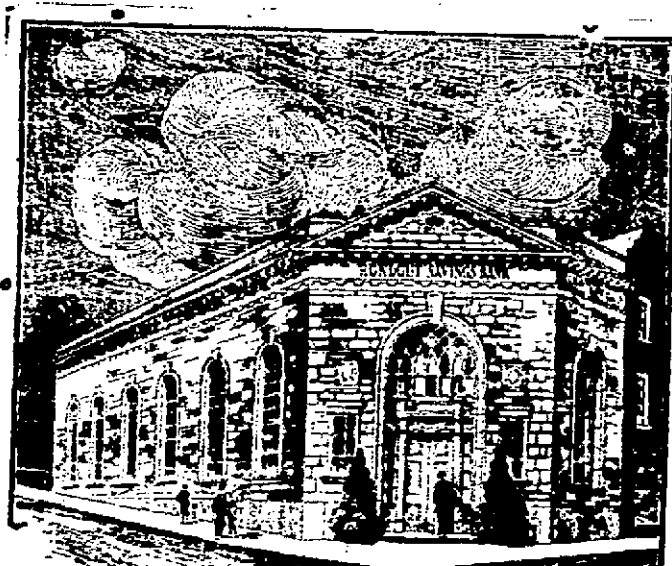

Drive your new Erskine 40 miles an hour the very first day—and at 62-mile speed later. You'll be driving a Champion, and you'll realize it before you've gone a mile. May we send an Erskine to meet you—today?

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, March 26 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets.)—Notwithstanding lighter receipts of new crop potatoes from Florida, prices further declined today as a result of light buying. Wholesale business on No. 1 Spaulding Rose in barrels was transacted at $6.25-$7, mostly $6.50-$6.75. The market on old crop potatoes was about steady. Demand was moderate and supply rather liberal. New York upstate round white potatoes in sacks of 150 pounds peddled out at $1.65-$1.75.

New York city potato receipts last week totaled 434 cars, of which 39 cars consisted of new crop stocks originating in Florida, Cuba and the Bermuda Islands.

Little activity was noted on state apples. Receipts were moderate and demand was limited. Sales varied greatly due to the wide range in the condition of the fruit. U. S. Grade No. 1, 2 1/2 inch Baldwins jobbed out at $6-$6 per barrel; McIntosh of the same grade and size realized $7-$11; Northern Spy, $6.50-$10; Rhode Island Greenings, $2.50-$6.50, and other kinds $4-$7.

Apple exports from this country and Canada for the week ended March 16 totaled 245,734 boxes and 54,184 barrels.

Continued limited buying of old crop domestic yellow onions resulted in lower prices. Several carlots of western New York yellow onions, which showed ordinary quality, changed hands at $2.15-$2.40 per sack of 100 pounds. Texas new crop yellow Bermuda onions of commercial pack in bushel crates wholesaled at principally $3.15.

Onion receipts last week filled 116 cars and supplies were drawn from New York, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Ohio, Oregon, California, Texas and Chili, South America.

Price changes in western New York old crop cabbage were few and small. Demand was limited. White and red Danish cabbage in sacks of about 90 pounds, peddled out as high as $2.75 and as low as $1.25. New crop southern white cabbage in 1 1/2 bushel hampers sold from 75c-$1.62 1/2, mostly $1.25-$1.50. Red in similar packages brought $2-$2.75.

Of 143 carloads of cabbage received last week, new crop cabbage totaled 139 cars.

Despite limited receipts of western cut carrots, the market was lively. Jobbing sales on bushel baskets of washed carrots were reported at $1.50-$1.75.

Shipments of carrots from New York state to date totaled 1,368 cars.

Marvels of Atoms
A hundred million atoms, placed end to end in a straight line, measure only an inch. Yet, at a scientific convention photographs and moving pictures of individual atoms are shown, colliding as they rush about at a speed of 30,000 miles an hour. This demonstrates amazing skill by scientists.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

THE COSTUME SUIT HAS THE CHARM OF NOVELTY

New York—One of the fashion points of the spring season is the costume suit. This, as its name indicates, is a combined version of the tailleur and substitutes for the separate suit and skirt.

While smart sports suits, in many ways, have and so on, have established themselves in the wardrobe of every woman, the suit, other than for sports wear, has been more or less a stepchild for many seasons. There has been a determination to revive the style, and realizing perhaps that it might be a difficult compromise by introducing the costume suit and dwelling upon its dressmaker details.

A Fancy Type of Tailored Suit Made of Black Crepe de Chine and Worn With a Blouse of White Satin Crepe. The Jacket is Trimmed With Insets of White Satin Crepe of the Material in the Opposite Way, the Skirt is Quite Straight and Narrow But There is a Draped Panel Attached on One Side Giving the Effect of Fullness.

(Copyright, 1929, by Fairchild)

Among the many interesting models launched, were several in moiré, faille and even taffeta. The printed crepe jacket-suit hardly comes under the costume category, yet it is instrumental in creating in feminine minds an idea that a street costume should be in two sections, one of which is a short jacket. Plain crepe suits are among the spring offerings and that these are fashioned on tailored lines but softened by cunning applications of bands, and feminine details generally, only adds to their charm.

Fitting Crown Remains as Favored London Mode

Hats are always changing, and every month or so there is something new to please those who like variety, even while they prefer to keep to familiar lines. One thing, however, remains unchanged in town hats and straw hats, and that is the fitting crown, asserts a fashion writer in the London Times.

Every hat has a crown that fits the head snugly and is modeled on the head for which it is intended. Apart from this first principle ingenuity develops new backs and fronts and decoration. In Paris, and to a certain extent here, hair is being grown again, and to conceal growing hair there is even a hat of black antelope felt made with curls of itself at the back and sides like a barrister's wig. The crown fits like a glove, and as the formal curls are short and treated as trimming, the result is not so bad as it sounds. Other small hats reveal growing hair without concealment. Turbans are now in favor, and the newest show a side movement and are close fitting, and are for the most part made of satin or satin and lame tissue. A black satin turban with an end of the satin drooping to one side has been worn with a great cabochon brooch of real stones. Another of black satin and gold lame has a side movement of the lame. No turban is left in its rigid form, and all are close fitting. Black hats outnumber colored hats. The influence of the beret is still strong, and the hat that is rolled off the face is frequent. On a good black felt hat the brim has been rolled to one long side, so as to leave a mere suggestion of a brim on the other, and the long side is brought down to cover the ear and side face. A black and silver enamel ornament of a modern design is the decoration.

Velvet, though it is very becoming for hats, has not been a great favorite this season. In spite of the number of good models in velvet, the satins and felts far outnumber them. A new model in two shades of blue velvet is of a beret shape, with a loose crown gathered on a close, narrow bandeau brim.

Artificial Flowers in Spring Fashion Picture

Those cloth roses whose brilliance put nature to blush in the naughty '90s have been exhumed for modern use. Artificial flowers, in fact, have become so important a part of the designer's art that an international exhibition recently attained realization in New York.

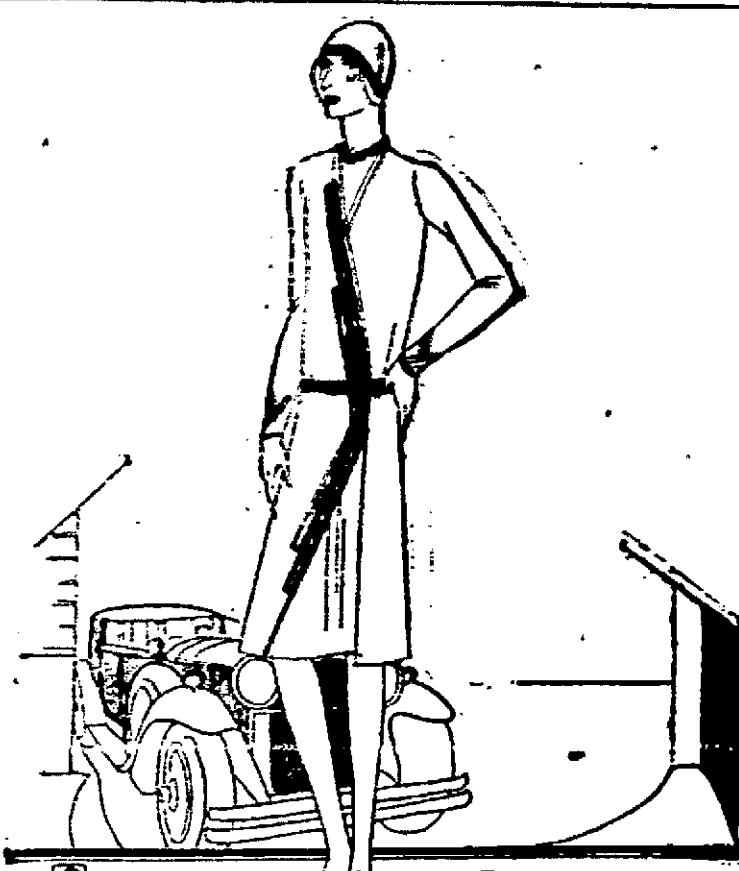

The show, put on by the International Artificial Flower Trades, included a number of exclusive creations from the ateliers of world famous designers. The creations ranged from diaphanous negligees to sturdy sports coats, but all of them utilized flowers as the major motif.

The flowers were made of many materials, cloth, feathers, straw and unknown sources supplying the background for dye and paint which rivaled a spring garden for brilliance. It is planned to make this show an annual affair.

Skirts of Silk With Woolen Jersey Jumpers

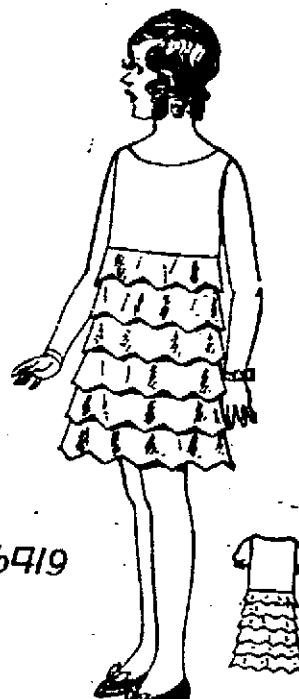

Plaited skirts of silk when combined with woolen jersey jumpers make very attractive day frocks. While many of these are shown in resort colors, there are deeper shades, as for example brown for the skirt and lighter shades used with a gay color such as orange for the jumper. In all woolen dresses brown is a smart color in solid tone or mixed with a light color such as beige.

As Colors Change
Color in women's dress appears to respond to a curious periodicity, according to Prof. A. F. Barker, head of the textile department of Leeds University. He said we should now be receding from a red period to an orange and yellow period, to be followed in due course by green, blue and violet periods.

No use trying to deny the increased importance of flares. Nearly all of the day clothes at Chantals have flared skirts. Even on tulle and woolen materials like a rose briar dress sketched. It has imitations of blue on the skirt and sleeves—

OUR DAILY PATTERN

A Dainty Frock For a Little Miss.

6419. Organdy in soft blue or pink, in orchid or maize would be lovely for this model. One could also use taffeta, or voile. Two colors or two or more shades of one color in combination is also suggested. The Dress, comprises a short waist lengthened by a two piece foundation skirt, on which the scalloped flounces are arranged. The short puffed sleeves may be omitted, as shown in the large view.

The pattern for this pleasing style is cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. To make a 6 year size will require 3 1/2 yards of material 36 inches wide or wider if made without sleeves. With sleeves 4 yards is required.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

MILTON.

Milton, March 25.—A headfire started in the garden of Homer Hadley last Thursday afternoon was spread by a heavy south wind and was carried over the MacMichael factory property on the dock road and over the Birdwell Taber property and the Lager property up to the residence of Mrs. Alice Crowell. The Milton fire department fought the fire for two hours and managed to save buildings in the path of the fire. Much credit is due the department members for their work. For a few hours it looked as though a large part of Milton village was in danger. The grass on both sides of the dock road was burned over quite a distance toward the village.

Herbert Bell was one of the speakers at the Hicksville monthly meeting held at Cornwall last week. His subject was the Young Folks' Conference to be held this summer at the Moses Brown School in Providence, R. I.

Miss Loretta Spratt of Milton was given a surprise shower by her friend, Miss Helen Volight, at the Hotel Astor, N. Y., Saturday, March 16. Miss Spratt's engagement to Michael Conroy of Milton was recently announced. At the luncheon Miss Spratt received some very lovely gifts. For twelve years Miss Spratt was the assistant postmistress in the Milton post office and is much beloved and respected by all who are acquainted with her. All wish her a happy life. Mr. Conroy is one of the Milton young men who is much thought of and is an employee of the Hudson River Fruit Exchange.

The young people of the Methodist Church are planning to organize a C. E. Society, which will soon be done under the direction of the Rev. S. A. Mac Cormack, pastor of the church. Officers will be nominated at a later meeting.

Mrs. Carol DuBois of Newburgh was a visitor at the home of Mrs. Harry Lauten Saturday afternoon. The Busy Bee Club met at the home of Mrs. Isaac Conklin, Jr., last Tuesday afternoon. This club is composed of members from Beacon, Wappingers Falls, Newburgh and Milton.

The St. Patrick's dance held at St. James Hall Saturday evening was a decided success. About $103 was taken in, which will go into the regular church fund. Many from Marlborough, Newburgh and Highland attended the dance. The Music Master's orchestra of Newburgh furnished the music.

The regular monthly meeting of the Maids' and Matrons' Society will be held Tuesday afternoon, March 26, at the club rooms. Mrs. Oliver Kent, Mrs. F. C. Wood, Mrs. Edward Wood, Mrs. Philip Lyons and Mrs.

Kern Leroy will serve on the refreshment committee.

A large number of members of the Milton church attended the Sunday school conference at Chateaufort last Tuesday.

Miss Florence Holbeck, who has been spending the winter at Hyde Park, has returned to her home on Watson avenue.

Mrs. Herbert Bell attended the recent economic conference at Vassar College.

Mrs. Hugh V. Briscoe underwent an operation at St. Francis Hospital.

Knightsbridge, last Thursday. Her many friends hope for her speedy recovery.

First Use of Coal

The value of coal does not seem to have been known to the ancients, for it is known at what time it began to be used for fuel. Some say that it was used by the ancient Britons; at all events, it was an article of household consumption, to some extent, during the Anglo-Saxon period as early as A. D. 832.

DON'T NEGLECT DAILY ROUGHAGE

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Will Supply It in Generous Quantities

There's danger in diets that lack bulk. This roughage is absolutely necessary to keep well. Without it constipation begins its deadly work. Unless prevented its poisons will ruin health, steal beauty, blast hopes.

Sallow complexions, headaches, listlessness are signs that constipation is present. But these can be banished—health and vigor can be regained by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran and is 100% effective. It is guaranteed to bring natural, care relief. Eat two tablespoonsful daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend it. A delicious cereal to serve with milk or cream. Delicious in cooked dishes. Recipes are on the package. Your grocer sells ALL-BRAN. Hotels, restaurants and dining-cars serve it. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Compensation Awards Here

A lump sum settlement of the claim of Samuel Gorseline, P. O. Box 166, Rosendale, of $675.36 for 75 per cent loss of use of left hand for a period of over 170 weeks, was made on Monday by Referee L. A. Kilburn, of the compensation department of the State Industrial Commission, at the court house in this city. The settlement amount added to previous compensations paid makes the total award or allowance $2,746.10, and closes the case. Gorseline was employed by Hogeboom & Campbell, Inc., road contractors of this city.

Other awards made to claimants were: Elijah Churchill, Wawarsing; employer Dale Engineering Co., Utica, N. Y. $99.26.

PLATTEN GRANGE HELD INTERESTING MEETING

The regular meeting of the Platten Grange was held on Saturday evening. Several applications for membership were received for the new class of candidates to be initiated in May. To be eligible for this class, it will be necessary to present applications at the next meeting.

A most interesting program was presented on the subject of flower and vegetable gardening and reforestation as follows:

Discussions on the subject: "It is cheaper for the farmer to buy vegetables than to raise them." Affirmative: Harold Tunney, Mrs. James Leitch and Mrs. Leander Minard. Negative: Bessie Harris, Wilmer Denniston and John Powell. This was presented most ably by both sides and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Other features of the program were as follows:

Poem, "The Old and the New" by Mrs. C. Ira Thompson. Reading, "Plan now for a garden" by Anna Drake. Guessing contest in names of flowers conducted by Elizabeth Fowler, first and second prizes being won by Mrs. William Nabor and Bessie Harris.

Spare that Tree" by lecturer. Interesting remarks on reforestation by J. M. Chase. Reforestation in Ulster county explained by Clifford Hotelling.

Ice cream, cake and coffee were served by the refreshment committee.

The next regular meeting will be held on April 13, announcements for which will be given later.

Fastest Thing on Legs

"The fastest thing on legs" is the title deserved by the whippet, the featherweight, long-legged racing dog that is rapidly becoming popular in America. Over a 200-yard course the dogs will outdistance a race horse, reaching the finish in from 10 to 12 seconds. That is half the time the fastest man would require!

In the Farm Journal, Werner P. Meyer tells how the whippet originated in England. "The breed was built up," he relates, "chiefly by mixing the blood of the greyhound with the terrier family. The result of this interbreeding was a dog resembling the greyhound in physical features, but smaller and lighter of build; and to the speed and stamina of the greyhound were added the daring and fierceness of the terrier family."

PORT EVEN

Port Even, March 25.—Moose Lodge, No. 65, Knights of Pythias, will confer the rank of Esquire on two candidates this evening in their convention hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Craig of Rutherford, N. J., spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Lester O. Ferguson of Broadway.

Mrs. Thomas Tucker, who spent the winter with her family in Brooklyn, has returned to her home on Broadway.

Holy Week services in the Reformed Church this evening at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. Frederick Baker, pastor of the Methodist Church, will be in charge.

A big minstrel show will be given in the basement of Trinity Lutheran Church, Wednesday evening, April 3. The show will be under the auspices of the Brotherhood, but will be given by the Men's Club of the Port Even Reformed Church. Music by a seven-piece orchestra; refreshments. Patrons may pay for tickets at the door or to Henry Krenz, Brotherhood treasurer. All are invited to attend and enjoy the fun.

David Harris was given a birthday party at his home on Hayard street Saturday evening. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paulus and daughter, Mrs. C. Harris, Mrs. Charles Nestell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Flowers and son, Montgomery Bailey, Miss Gertrude Egbertson of Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Francis O'Reilly, Mr. and Mrs. Lester O. Ferguson and son, Harold, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Craig of Rutherford, N. J. Mr. Harris was the recipient of many presents. Games were played and delicious refreshments served. The party broke up at a late hour, all wishing "Dave" many more like occasions.

The annual chicken supper is to be served in the Methodist Church house Wednesday evening, April 3, at 6 o'clock under the auspices of the official board of the church.

The Misses Helen and Doris Rice of Connelly spent the week end with their grandmother, Mrs. Carey Secor, of Stout avenue.

Mrs. William J. Rogers, Mrs. Ellwood Rogers, Mrs. Emma Morrison and Mrs. Ralph Scofield of Fishkill and Beacon were guests of Mrs. Webster Munson and Mrs. Alice Thiel of Downe street Friday, March 22.

All those who took part in the minstrel show of the Men's Community Club of the Reformed Church are requested to meet for rehearsal Wednesday night after the service in the lecture room of the church.

There will be a meeting of the Port Even Fire Department tonight at 8 o'clock.

PHOENICIA

Phoenicia, March 25.—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Clark were hosts at a St. Patrick's supper and social at the Gormley House on Monday evening. Guests at the enjoyable time were the Rev. Father O'Flanagan and Callahan, Dr. and Mrs. Pace, the Misses Agnes McGrath and Mary Gormley, Mrs. B. Ceceri of Marlborough; V. Martin of Albany, Mrs. J. Hallenbeck, Miss McBride and Jack Clark of Woodland. The scheme of decoration was green and white, the soft glow of the green candlesticks lending a pleasant touch. Ladies' favors were dolls, which carried the shamrock memory. The gentlemen received a shamrock and pipe. The menu consisted of a turkey supper and all the good things that go with it. Mr. and Mrs. Clark were voted royal entertainers.

A successful St. Patrick's euchre and dance was held Monday evening in the parish hall for St. Francis de Sales Church, the place being artistically decorated in green and white. Various flags added a touch to the decoration, the red, white and blue occupying a conspicuous position. A very good time was had by all. Refreshments were served. High scorers at the euchre were Mrs. F. Tyler, L. Bell, P. Flemming, Mr. Morrissey, Mrs. Gaede, Philip Gordon, Mrs. F. Simmons, Mrs. W. McGrath, Minnie Simpson, Mrs. Kelly, of Big Indian and Mrs. Morrissey.

L. Bell has been doing some work for B. Conerty on his residence in Arkville.

Lorin Bell accompanied by his mother is on a trip to visit relatives in Utica.

Mrs. Ezra Short is quite ill suffering great pain caused by diabetic trouble.

Mrs. S. Hill was badly injured by falling down a few steps and striking her head against the door in the lower hall way. Her shoulder was dislocated, while her forehead and left eye are badly swollen and bruised. She suffers much pain. Dr. Pace attended her and set the dislocation.

Miss Aileen Schwarzwelder returned from the Kingston Hospital Saturday afternoon. She was so improved that she was able to walk into the house from the car.

H. Boice spent a couple of days with his daughter, Mrs. Riley, at Highmount.

Mrs. W. Van Steenburgh, Mrs. A. P. Loomis, the Misses Mary Van Steenburgh, Frances Hill and Harriet Loomis attended an entertainment in Kingston Friday evening. It was given in the First Reformed Church and was under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society.

The food sale held Saturday was well patronized and brought in a nice sum. Mrs. O. Hill had it in charge.

Miss Verna Boice is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Riseley, at Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Van Steenburgh, Mary Van Steenburgh and Frances Hill spent Saturday evening in Kingston.

A. P. Loomis and Adrian Loomis of Hunter spent Sunday in Phoenicia.

Miss Helen Gishac is visiting her brother and family in New York city.

Miss Lode Shurter is home from Northfield for the Easter vacation. Special meetings will be held during the week. The pastors of the M. E. and Baptist Churches will be ## in charge and services in the two churches here and at the community church in Chichester will have evening of service held in them.

Mrs. A. P. Loomis and Miss Harriet attended the Home Bureau meeting held in Kingston on Saturday. Mrs. Tobey, a talented speaker on this house by illness.

Mr. Dwyer, who has been ill, is interesting illustrated talks on var-getting better.

A number of The Treadwell Reformatory expect to attend a convention meeting April 2 at Saugerties.

Theresa Nollner, who was ill of Rheumatism, is out again.

Mrs. C. Neice is confined to the bed.

Chinese Elm One of Hardest of Trees

The Chinese elm, sometimes known as the desert elm, is one of the most valuable contributions to the imported flora of the United States made by the late Frank Meyer of the bureau of plant industry, United States Department of Agriculture, says the American Forestry and Forest Life Magazine, official organ of the American Forestry association. Mr. Meyer found the tree growing in the vicinity of Peking, China, and was so impressed with its graceful form and general hardiness that he included
it in his shipments of new plants from the Celestial Kingdom about the year 1914.

"The seeds," the writer continues,
"were propagated at several of the plant introduction gardens of the Department of Agriculture and soon proved their adaptability to a wide range of conditions in America. One of the original trees growing near Chien, China, is now about forty feet high and its small leaves and the density and waving character of its springs combine to make a specimen of great grace and beauty."

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 26 (AP).—A further tightening in credit conditions, which sent the call money rate to 17 per cent and the time money rate to 5½ per cent for all maturities, brought about another drastic reaction in today's stock market. The declines in scores of issues ran from 2 to nearly 25 points, with more than 100 issues plunging into new low ground for the year.

The market opened irregular and started to rally when it became apparent that overnight margin calls had failed to cause any sharp initial breaks. The rally was quickly checked, however, when call money renewed at 12 per cent, the highest opening charge since January 2.
Prices slipped steadily for the rest of the morning but the selling assumed gigantic proportions after midday when money brokers bid 15 per cent for call money, and the rate was immediately jacked up to that figure, and then to 17 per cent.
Call money was scarce even at the higher figure, and predictions were freely made that the rate would work higher. Time money was 8½ bid for all maturities, with little money available below 8½ per cent.
The scarcity of money indicates the heavy withdrawal of out-of-town funds, and the reluctance of local bankers to place money into the market, when they are seeking to cooperate with the Federal Reserve board in curtailing the volume of speculative credit.

Trading was unusually heavy, with indications that the day's sales would set a new high record for the year if not for all time. Total sales crossed the 3,000,000 mark shortly after midday and the ticker was then nearly 40 minutes behind the market.

At their low prices today, many of the high priced specialties were selling 30 to 70 points below the year's high levels, some of which were established only last week. Adams Express broke 21 points after having dropped 49½ yesterday, the low price of 530, contrasting with the year's high of 600½. Greene Cananea Copper, which sold as high as 197½
last week, tumbled 10 points to 186.
Anaconda Copper sold down 7½ points to 147½ as against a recent high of 147½.

$50,000,000 Bond Issue Urged by Gov. Roosevelt

Albany, March 26 (AP).—A bond issue of $50,000,000 to be used for the construction of state hospitals and charitable institutions was recommended to the Legislature today by Governor Roosevelt.

A referendum on the question of issuing the bonds would be held at the next election, the governor explained in his special message to the Legislature.

The governor traced for the Legislature the growth of population in state institutions, resulting largely from the normal increase in population. The commissioner of mental hygiene, said the governor, reported insane institutions overcrowded by 10,000 patients and the executive added that within the next seven years the natural increase will bring 27,000 more patients than the present hospital capacity.

Stock Market Breaks Wide Open

New York, March 26 (AP).—The stock market broke wide open again today when the call money rate was jacked up to 17 per cent. Losses in many of the high-priced issues ranged from 45 to nearly $35 a share, with at least 100 stocks in new low ground for the year.

Call money mounted to 20 per cent late in the session, and at 2 o'clock the ticker was 64 minutes late. This is the first time that call loans have commanded a 20 per cent rate since February 5, 1920, on which date they renewed at 17 and closed at 20.

About the Folks

Baron F. Von Falkenstein of New York city was the guest of Carl G.
Fischer at his home on East Strand on Saturday.

George T. Port of Springfield,
Mass., Mr. and Mrs. George Beck, Miss Louise Merz of New York and George Wachmeyer of Brooklyn, N.
Y., have returned home after visiting relatives here. They also attended the funeral of the late Henry L. Wachmeyer.

Miss Helen Cashion, who has spent the past three months in Tampa, St.
Petersburg and Orlando, Florida, with the Clandemole Producing Company as dancing instructor, returned the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Cashion of Hemlock avenue, while enroute to Ogdensburg, N. Y.

Two-Thirds Majority Doesn't Mean That

A "two-thirds majority" is merely a popular way of saying that a candidate received two-thirds of all the votes cast in an election. Suppose, for instance, 3,000 votes are cast, and one candidate receives 1,000 and the other 2,000. The latter receives a two-thirds majority; namely, two-thirds of all the votes cast. In this case the actual majority over the other candidate is only one-third of all the votes,
and literally "two-thirds majority"
should mean that the difference between the two figures is two-thirds of the total number of votes. For instance, if one candidate had received 500 and the other 2,500, the difference
—2,000—would equal two-thirds of the total. But the term is generally used to express the idea of two-thirds of all the votes regardless of the number received by other candidates.—

Cats Like Revenge

A contractor received an inquiry from a surgeon who wanted professionary bids on several different operations, with alternatives for all kinds of material and finished, return a contributor to Architectural Record.
The contractor wrote back:
"Am in the market for one operation for appendicitis, one, two, or three-inch incision with or without ether; also with or without ether. Questions must include putting appendicitis back and cancelling the order if found cured. Successful bidder is expected to hold incision open for 60 days, so I expect to be in the market for an operation for gall stones, and I want to save the extra cost of cutting."

Society Notes

BODIES OF DEAD PILOT AND PASSENGERS SENT HOME.

Mount Gretna, Pa., March 26 (AP).—
Reversing the trail over which they flew to their deaths here yesterday, the bodies of a pilot and his three passengers were to be returned to their homes today.

The bodies of Harold Gloyd, 21,
of Worthington, Ohio, and Charles
Stewart, 27, of Columbus, Ohio,
were the first to be claimed by their relatives. The bodies of the others
Paul Wager, 23, of Worthington,
Ohio, and the pilot, John L. Campion, who was flying the plane toward New York where he was to become eastern factory representative for
the Mahoney-Ryan Aircraft Corporation, were expected to be started homeward later in the day.

The plane crashed here at 11:30
yesterday morning after tearing off
part of a wing in colliding with a tree while flying low to find a landing site.

ing, having joined in 1867. Mr.
Mathis married Minnie Styles,
a daughter of the late Edward W.
Styles, who lived on Lucas avenue,
she being a sister of the late George B. Styles, jeweler, who died a few months ago well along in his eighties. Mr. Mathis after leaving Kingston went into the drug store business and was very successful, having owned that well known proprietary article, Grover's Mange Care, which had and still has a large demand from owners of dogs.
He is survived by one son, Harry.
The funeral was held on Monday.

Padlocks Asked For Chateau and Saugerties Places

New York, March 26 (AP).—Padlock complaints were filed today in federal court against numerous defendants in the prohibition enforcement district of North Westchester county. Eight others were filed against resorts in this district, all but two in Westchester county.

Among the upstate defendants are:

Poughkeepsie—James F. Talbot and others, 30 Main street; Joseph Gorman and others, 476 Main street; Sophia Bloom and others, trading as London popular, 440 Main street; James J. Carroll and others, 120 Main street; and William Jackson and others, 127 Main street.

Hudson—Ralph Poppo and others, 42 Front street; E. J. Cale and others, 31 Warren street; and Louis Sacco, 17 North Front.

William Wals and others, 117
Parson street, Saugerties; Glenn
Robinson and others, Exchange
Hotel, Saugerties, and Harry Weston and others, trading as "Chateau," Lake Katrine.

Mount Gretna, Pa., March 26 (AP).—
Reversing the trail over which
they flew to their deaths here yesterday, the bodies of a pilot and his three passengers were to be returned
to their homes today.

The bodies of Harold Gloyd, 21,
of Worthington, Ohio, and Charles
Stewart, 27, of Columbus, Ohio,
were the first to be claimed by their relatives. The bodies of the others
Paul Wager, 23, of Worthington,
Ohio, and the pilot, John L. Cam-
pion, who was flying the plane toward New York where he was to become eastern factory representative for
the Mahoney-Ryan Aircraft Corporation, were expected to be started
homeward later in the day.

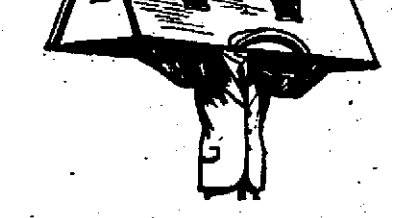

The plane crashed here at 11:30
yesterday morning after tearing off
part of a wing in colliding with a
tree while flying low to find a landing site.

Two Arrested Following Crash

A coal truck driven by Herbert Roberts of LePauvre Falls and owned by Albert Jephare of Lawrenceville plunged down the embankment and into the canal at Rosendale Monday. The driver of the truck, following the crash with the automobile occupied by Lester Starkey and Earl Munson of Walden, jumped when he saw the truck was headed for the canal and received but minor injuries. The accident happened a short distance beyond
the bridge in Rosendale.

It is charged that Starkey and Munson went on after the crash but before they had gotten very far were overtaken. Starkey was arrested charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated and with leaving the scene of an accident.
Munson was also arrested charged with driving without a license and with leaving the scene of an accident. Witnesses stated they beheld Munson was driving at the time the automobile tried to pass the truck, causing the collision. Both men were taken to the Ulster county jail but were later released on bail bonds in the sums of $300 and $150. Wednesday afternoon they will be given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Duffy at Rosedale.

Explosion Shakes Two States

Philadelphia, March 26 (AP).—
What appeared to be a terrific explosion was felt in parts of Philadelphia, upper Delaware and southern New Jersey this afternoon. The telephone calls by the thousands reached newspaper offices and police stations, but 15 minutes after the shock, the cause had not been ascertained or located.

France Pays Last Tribute to Foch

"Aux Champs" while all along the line of march two ranks of helmeted soldiers presented arms.

Then came a battery of field artillery, four caissons, each drawn by six horses and four 75 millimeter guns, pride of the French artillery. Behind marched a color bearer with a regimental flag draped in crepe.

Next came the funeral pall.

As the cortege proceeded up the street the mist that was everywhere grew ever thicker and more than ever like an eery funeral pall. The sky grew darker and it seemed as if rain would come before the cortege concluded its mile and a half march.

Two battalions of French infantry followed the color bearer, marching with their bayonets fixed and accompanied by two bands of 199 pieces with muffled drums playing a military funeral march. French marines followed.

Then ten abreast and ten deep came the future officers of France—perhaps a marshal or so among them—students from the Polytechnic School, Marshal Foch's Alma Mater. Belgian grenadiers in two detachments were next.

American Veterans March.

Ten American veterans, bearing the flag of the American Legion Post in Paris and an American flag, both draped in crepe, marched by. They were followed by two ranks of officers led by Colonel Richard P. Ellis and Major James B. Ord.

The famous Coldstream Guards representing Great Britain followed the Americans. They wore their black and red coats and dark trousers, and carried bayoneted rifles.

One hundred and twenty Italians followed, picturesque in their faring feathered felt hats, and their green uniforms tucked into puttees at the knees. Behind them were soldiers of Poland. Each detachment of foreign troops was accompanied by a French officer riding beside their commander.

Twelve Rumanian officers were followed by two companies of mounted Moroccans with grey-lined black burnous and drawn sabers. Then came the flags of all the regiments of France mustered out since the war. They had been brought from the Invalides and were carried by solid rows of color bearers.

The Funeral Cortege.

Then the funeral cortege itself. In front was Cardinal DuBois and the Bishop of Paris, the two prelates gorgeous in their scarlet robes and long trains carried by altar boys. They were followed by a group of priests.

An orderly led Marshal Foch's favorite horse, reversed boots in its stirrups. His running black draperies studded with gold stars almost touched the ground around him.

Behind him was the plain oaken coffin of the Marshal of France, covered with a white flag and borne on a gun carriage of a "75." It was drawn by six black horses. Running from the casket were stretched black cords—held by Minister of War Painleve and officers of the Allied armies.

Crowds Silent as Casket Passes.

It was as the casket came into view that the real difference between today's crowds and those of the armistice, with whom they compared in size, appeared. The armistice crowd was noisy, hilarious, boisterous. Today the throngs were silent and sad.

But they were not at other times so quiet as when faced with the casket of one who was an almost unknown. All that could be heard was the rattle of the six caissons' wheels and the rhythmic tramp of feet marching by the thousands along the staid street.

Every hat was off, most of the women even uncovering. Above the whir of airplanes could be heard, sounding themselves like new plaintive notes in the sad symphony of grief and sorrow. The mist was so thick though they could not see.

Behind the caisson there followed the Duc de Fougères, Chief of the Protocol, Guardian of French Formalities. Thirty feet behind him, walking alone, his head slightly bowed, came the president of France, who set aside protocol and protocol and insisted on marching behind the body of the man who saved France twice.

Gen. Pershing a full-bearer.

General Pershing headed the ranks of the pall-bearers on the left side, the British Field Marshal Jacob leading a single column on the right, with generals and marshals of other nations following and Minister of War Painleve bringing up their rear.

Nearly all the nations of the earth were represented in the myriad colored group which followed.

At the Invalides salutes of artillery announced the arrival of the cortege and added to the impressiveness of the funeral parade. As the procession reached the head of the Avenue Gallieni the casket was transferred from the gun carriage to a special catafalque in front of the Invalides where it remained while Premier Painleve paid the last and only public tribute to the departed soldier.

General H. J. E. Gouraud, one-armed war hero, gave the order for the column which was to pay the last honors of the marshal's comrades in arms to file past the catafalque.

Every officer and every man by his expression showed they were there for an occasion which meant more than any other anticipated for years to come. When the last soldier had paid his tribute the casket was transferred again from the catafalque to the gun carriage. This time it was followed by only the marshal's family and his staff.

The bier was then placed in a vault to remain until a sarcophagus worthy of him can be prepared.

HOME SERVICE CLASS AT ROSENDALE THURSDAY

"Easter Suggestions" is the topic of the lesson to be demonstrated at the regular Home Service class on Thursday afternoon, March 28 at 2:30 o'clock in the Rosendale office. Miss Plank will demonstrate several salads attractive for this season of the year. Several ways of serving eggs in keeping with the Easter time makes the lesson most interesting. The ladies of the vicinity are cordially invited to attend this seasonal meeting.

Main Street Property Sold.

Oscar S. Williams, manager for the local J. C. Penny store, has purchased from William Harp, Jr., the new six room dwelling located at 328 Main street. Mr. Williams is installing a gas system for heating the house which will make this one of the most up-to-date properties of its kind in Kingston. Mr. Williams and family are now living at their new location. This sale was negotiated through the real estate agency of Frank S. Hyatt, 281 Fair street.

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

There are all sorts of games to be played in this world, besides those with cards and golf clubs. In the gentle old days of baggies and carriages, many a traveling group has played roadside cribbage, occupants of the vehicle taking their own side of the road, and running up a competitive score according to agreed numbers, for men, women, children and all sorts of animals seen.

But in these swift automobile days, such an attempt would be futile, because the destination might be reached while it was still under discussion whether it was a pig or a rabbit that had been seen on the left.

However, thanks to the inborn love of women for pretty clothes, there are still leisurely walkers to be found where artistic garments are on display. It was sloppy and disagreeable under foot on a chilly day when one of the most dignified and aristocratic women Dame Fashion has ever known, acquainted with every corner of Europe, stopped for a moment beside her in front of a big plate glass window. "I left the car," she said, "because I wanted to walk around and look in shop windows."

The game Dame Fashion set for herself lately was to see how quickly she could count fifteen different modes of trimming dresses on display in store windows. Forms of the knotted handkerchief scarf are obvious and very taking ways of trimming many gowns of the outdoor or sports type. Indeed, if there were such a thing on the market as a solid old maid gown, it verily seems that if a red and green and blue modernistic handkerchief were knotted about its neck it would at once look all ready for happiness.

Buttons—little buttons in rows, and big single buttons are another trim which has the pleasant quality of not wearing out. Three golden balls are not popular, but Dame Fashion saw a frock with two quite large golden balls swinging down from slender ties, and they gave an air.

Plaits would almost rank as No. 1, in the trimming list, with little ruffles coming along after. Stitched on bands of a contrasting color, or stripes woven into the material in much the same effect make an admirable trim. Buckles have great possibilities for giving accent to a gown, while if used with thought and taste, clusters of flowers are just as good as they ever were, in the proper places. They are not now stuck heterogeneously on every gown.

There are trimming effects gained by dips in the skirt lengths, and also it is perfectly possible to "trim in the piece," as the grandmothers used to say. That is, a printed material may be chosen instead of a plain one. A pronounced design in a material says "no" to other forms of trimming, unless of simple bands or folds in a solid color, harmonizing with the material or predominating in its shades. With this theory, that design is a trim, it would not be hard this year to find a hundred and fifty kinds of trimming. Instead of fifteen.

And don't forget the trimming effect of costume jewelry. "Pendants are very good this year," was a recent remark made to Dame Fashion by an authority and really much costume jewelry is in evidence.

"Penny" Not Official

U. S. Coin Designation

"Penny" is not the official designation of any coin minted by the United States. The application of "penny" to the cent, however, dates back to the beginning of our money system.

Until after the Revolutionary war the English penny circulated freely in this country. Although one-cent pieces had been previously coined by several of the states, the word "cent" did not appear officially in connection with a federal coin until 1786. August 8 of that year the Continental congress passed a law which prescribed "Cents: The highest copper piece, of which 100 shall be equal to the dollar."

October 16, 1786, it was ordained by congress, "That no foreign copper coin whatsoever shall after the first day of September, 1787, be current within the United States of America." This law removed the English penny from circulation in this country, but the name "penny" was transferred to our cent in popular usage and it has tenaciously clung to it ever since.

After the present Constitution was adopted the cent was retained as part of our monetary system. April 2, 1792, congress passed an act establishing a mint, and regulating the coins of the United States. This act prescribed "Cents—each to be of the value of the one-hundredth part of a dollar, and to contain eleven penny-weights of copper."

Ants by the Millions Used to Worry Beetles

"Without Black Ants No Cocoa," reads a sign posted at the entrance of a great plantation in Central Java. It does not go unheeded, either, for the natives band in some 4,000,000 nests of these little creatures every year, and receive payment in return. These black ants live upon trees infested by the white cocoa louse.

Neither the louse nor the ants injure the trees. The real enemy is a certain beetle whose name is Heleopeltis, which also attacks the tea plant. It has been found that when the black ants are present the Heleopeltis fails to injure the trees. Apparently this sap-sucking pest is disturbed by the activity of the ants, for the latter do not attack the beetle.

This is why the black ants are protected. Food is provided for them by picking the white cocoa louse from the shells of the fruit, where they congregate, and pinning them on the cocoa trees to attract the ants and disturb the beetles.

People Must Reform

The people have regarded many times throughout their history, but have never yet revolted against their own wickedness.

We can never have real reform until the people are somehow made to realize that there is but one reform: for the people themselves to reform; not to glorify their race or pastors, but to make themselves more comfortable.

The one great thing to strive for is to render life as easy, comfortable and successful as possible; to modify savage nature. This can best be done by people behaving better; to help rather than fight each other.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

"Comfortable Shoes"

keep 1200 SMILES a day on my face

"1200 guests a day—between 11 and 3—in they come, day after day! Long before 11 I have to see that everything is right in the kitchen and at the fountain. Then guests have to be made welcome... waitresses have to be directed... orders supervised. Being the manager at Huyler's 44th Street store is a responsible and exacting job."

"I know I couldn't do my work unless I felt quite comfortable. The smile that you need to keep everything going right is erased very quickly when shoes pinch and feet hurt. That is why I wear Cantilever Shoes—and have worn them for a long time. Cantilever Shoes do keep the smile on my face, and guard my feet against fatigue. They are so flexible, so comfortable, that hours of walking and standing on a marble floor can't tire me."

Mrs. P. O. O'Connor Mrs. J. W. O'Connor
Mrs. Sue Tovey Miss Grace Bush

Miss Lillian Black is Manager of Huyler's store at 44 East 42nd St., New York.

"Can you be soothing and attentive when your feet hurt? I should say not!"

"A nurse is supposed to radiate good cheer and comfort. Well, then, she must feel cheerful and comfortable herself. That is why I am so particularly about my shoes. Long hours of vigil have taught me that nothing can make you feel tired and listless more quickly than uncomfortable shoes."

"I wear Cantilevers. They are so good to look at and so very, very comfortable. Several times last winter I was called to particularly difficult cases. My Cantilever Shoes helped me to ward off fatigue and stress. I feel now that I really couldn't start on a new case without my Cantilevers." Miss Nora Gurnea

Final Standing Of Tournament

Before a symposium of cheering basketball fans, from all over the country, Ellenville High School was declared the winner of the Ulster County Basketball Tournament which was held at the Kingston Y.M.C.A. under the auspices of the Town and County Division. Playing through with a perfect score, to the last game on Saturday evening they met the Saugerties High School team. Saugerties also had suffered no defeats up to this game, and so both teams were ready to go. Basketball fans declared that the game was a wonder. Clean, fast playing, good defense, and splendid attack, by both teams brought the spectators time and again to their feet with cheers. In the end, Ellenville was two baskets to the good.

Kerhonkson suffered a great loss in an early game when Captain Frank Gray suffered a twisted knee which put him out of the game. However, the team gave a mighty good showing of itself during the remainder of the schedule.

Although Marlborough lost every game they never gave up trying and their players were on their feet, working their hardest when the last whistle blew. Many spectators remarked on the fine sportsmanship that was exhibited by the players and congratulated the Town and County Division of the Association for promoting the tournament. Such a tournament must surely bring a finer spirit of athletic conduct and sportsmanship throughout the county.

The coaches, in their meeting when the tournament was planned were unanimous in their decision that no championship title should go with this meet and that the only trophy that should be awarded would be the basketball that was used during the tournament. Their belief was that the playing would bring forth a splendid spirit of fellowship in sports that would mean far more than a championship, and it is the conviction of those who were present that their prediction was correct. Much credit is due to the officials, Messrs. Chipp, Crow and Corrigan, who officiated at all the games. These three men are Central Board officials. The Kingston H-Y Club furnished the scorers, timers and also a guide for each team. These guides had their team on the floor ready to play when one game was completed. As a result, the final game of the fifteen, started right on the time scheduled.

On Saturday noon, the coaches of the various high schools met with Mr. Hall, secretary of the Town and County Division of the Y.M.C.A. at lunch at the Brass Kettle Inn, where plans were discussed for a spring track meet to be held in Kingston on the 25th of May.

The players of those team which desired entertainment were entertained in the homes of the Kingston people over Friday night.

The following is the final standing of the teams:

Team	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Ellenville	5	0	1.000
Saugerties	4	1	.800
New Paltz	3	2	.600
Kerhonkson	2	3	.400

High School May Play Chandlers

A recent statement that the Chandler and Kingston High School Varsity would come together before the end of the basketball season is creating much eagerness on the part of fans to see the game materialize. It probably will.

The American Legion, which has a goodly number of fans and even players among its membership, is now working on a proposition to let the teams mix it at the armory and if the present efforts of Tommy "Tex" Murray, athletic officer of Kingston Post, meet with the same success as in the past Kingston fans will be able to see what is forecast as a real stellar attraction at the armory.

In searching around for teams to do battle in a preliminary contest "Tex" Murray got a sudden idea. It came to him, all of a sudden, that the fans would like to see the American Legion quintet meet the Kingston High School faculty team in the first game of the evening, so he is busy on this match.

No date has been set for the two stellar attractions. Negotiations will have to be carried out with Major Hiltbrand of the National Guard for the use of the armory before an evening is named for the skirmishes. The public is to be informed just as soon as a date is set for it is expected that all fans will be looking forward to sit aside every other engagement to attend these games.

Normal Again Court Victors

On Friday evening, March 22, the Normal basketball squad motored to Ravena and defeated the high school team of that village, 35-27. This was the teachers' second triumph over the Ravens team this season. Ravena has a strong team and is coached by George (Lanky) Masterson, former captain and star of the New Paltz quintet. The Normal boys played one of their best games of the season and displayed championship quality basketball. The large lead gained in the first half was threatened in the second half when the Ravena boys had considerable success with long shots.

Oakley and Ruland were the big guns of the New Paltz offense, scoring thirteen and twelve points respectively. Van Hoesen and Captain Bailey scored most for Ravena, with twelve and eleven points in the order named.

The Normal School quintet will close its season on Friday evening, April 12, on the home court, when they will endeavor to defeat the Clinton Avenue Normal Varsity team of Kingston. Rodney Chipp, member of last year's Normal Varsity, is captain of the Clinton Avenue team. The teachers hope to close their season with an impressive victory.

One Consolation

First Burn—It's tough having three motor cars taking one place.

Second Burn—Well, it gives the men something else to sweat at besides the first.

Champion Trotting Horse

An inordinate appetite for fresh grass is the reason for the wearing of blinkers by Cranle, France's champion trotting mare and about the only trotter in Europe which can turn in around two minutes for the mile.

The possessor of a kindly temper, the mare, calm and cool at the post, never shies or breaks during a race and horsemen were inquiring of Trainer Capovilla why he found it necessary to put blinkers on her.

"So that she won't run out if she sees a grass patch alongside the track," Capovilla replied. "She pulled that stunt on me once in Brussels when as a three-year-old and leading her field by 20 yards, she suddenly halted and bolted into the landscape."

He explained that Cranle was allowed to roam at large in the fields near Bordeaux until she was nearly three years old and she could never get out of the habit of nibbling a few blades of grass, regardless of time, place or conditions.

Many Nationalities Now

Playing Ball in Africa

Baseball has come to northern Africa at last, and in the shadow of ancient Carthage "El Bingo," the Babe Ruth of the most natural sand diamonds in the world, is a greater hero than the illustrious warrior Hannibal.

An American, Dr. C. Guyer Kelley, of the board of foreign missions, introduced the game at Tunis, Northern Africa, and such was the enthusiastic response of the Arab youth that the Tunisian league, comprising no fewer than 16 clubs, was organized within a month after the first ball was pitched.

Nine races are represented among the players, nearly as many nationalities playing as there are gloves and bats. French, Spanish, Italian, Maltese, Arab, Kabyle, Jewish, Greek and Turkish players, more than 300 of them, share 32 gloves and have about 40 bats to wield.

As Fighters Grow Rich

They Become Very Timid

Funny how these top-rank fighters begin to moon in advance over injuries they seldom receive and for which, if received, they would be amply compensated. While they are preliminary battles, they take all manner of risks without a murmur. Pride of craft and a ham sandwich are all the rewards they crave. As they climb and become big earners, they become more precious to themselves—and that's why we are having so many chancing matches and glove-grabbing contests as compared to heart-whole fights of the Dempsey-Eiripo type.

Freeman Again Beats Rice

Bill Freeman, negro heavyweight boxer of West Point, who stopped K. O. Rice at the Auburn Athletic Club, Auburn, N. Y., several weeks ago, scored his second win over the upstate big boy at the same arena Monday night. Freeman got the fight by virtue of a technical knockout when Rice was unable to answer the bell for the sixth round.

A packed house saw the giant negro lambaste Rice about the ring in the opening round and did plenty of urging, for the upstarters admire Freeman's style. He easily took the opening session. In the second Rice seemed stronger and the milling was on even terms.

Freeman tore out of his corner in the third round and tossed so many gloves at the Kayo boy that he was totally bewildered. The West Pointer kept up this sort of tactics until he had Rice in a bad way at the end of the fifth round. During this session the upstart fighter received a bad cut over his right eye that prevented him from answering the bell for the sixth round.

The bout was scheduled for ten rounds and was the main attraction of a pleasing card. Needless to say the scrap lived up to all the earmarks of a stellar offering.

Gene Conway of this city, who seconded Freeman, was well pleased with his man's performance as was Lieutenant Ernest Stending, a National Guardsman of Kingston, who went to Auburn to see the fight. Both men predict that Bill will be one of the outstanding soldier heavyweights to compete for the honors in the big men's class at the tourney to be run at the 102nd Medical Armory, New York, in the near future.

Games Thursday At Port Ewen

Three basketball games will be staged in Knights of Pythias Hall court, Port Ewen, Thursday of this week. All three tilt promise to be real fast exhibitions, so a record crowd is expected to be at the hall on Thursday.

The first game between the Port Ewen Girls and Fuller's team of the Girls Industrial League, will start at 7:30 o'clock. From this time on plenty of action will be seen on the court it is forecast.

In the second tilt of the evening the Port Ewen Knights of Pythias quintet will do battle with the famous Chandlers, who have taken practically every court aggregation in this vicinity into camp. The Chandlers hold three wins over the Knights.

The last game of the evening, which will hold every feature of a main attraction, it is said, will be a mixup between the Port Ewen Men's Club and the Port Ewen Methodist team. These two quintets have been strong rivals for some time and each one is ready to do plenty of hard playing to take the bacon.

Gives Interesting Talk on Baseball

Leslie Mann, former big league baseball player, explained and illustrated both the skill and faults of players at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium Monday night. The lecture was given through the courtesy of Kingston Post, American Legion and was for the purpose of creating the interest of the youth of the city in the national sport. A Junior League will be organized by the local Legion, the winners participating for state honors.

Leslie Mann had sixteen years of experience in the major leagues. He is a veteran of the Boston Braves, the club with which he began his career at the age of 18 years. Later he was traded to the Chicago White Sox and from that team he went with the New York Giants. Mr. Mann played with the New York team for many seasons taking part in one of the world series.

For six years Leslie Mann has been working to get these pictures of famous stars, illustrating their prowess with the bat. Mr. Mann succeeded in getting a hundred and fifty major league players to donate pictures for him. The pictures were mostly to batting. As Mr. Mann showed the pictures he explained the faults or the good points of the batter. Stepping away from the ball, too long a stride in stepping into the ball and holding the bat in such a way that you cannot get the weight of your body behind your swing, are faults which should be corrected as early as possible. "Ty Cobb claims," said Mr. Mann, "that a player should learn to hit well before a full swing is attempted." By hunting a player learns to time his swing and swing straight at the ball.

In the pictures were also included the way the big league teams go through their early days of spring training. "The New York Giants were shown tossing a medicine ball about in order to strengthen the muscles in their arms and stomach. In the muscles of the stomach, lies health and future strength of the body. No one can be stronger than the muscles in his stomach. Thus the major league players are put through such workouts."

"Never throw a ball fast," said Mr. Mann, "until you have loosened up the muscles in your arms and legs." Many a pitcher and other player has ruined himself because he paid no heed to such advice. The most essential thing of any pitcher is control. In warming up if a twirler has no plate to toss them over, throw a hat on the ground or a glove, just something to give the pitcher a target.

Mr. Mann then concluded his lecture by wishing the American Legion success in the coming baseball season.

WITH THE BALL CLUBS

(By The Associated Press.)

Port Myers, Fla.—Going into the last week in the training camp, the situation is none too alluring so far as the Philadelphia Athletics are concerned.

The regular pitchers are going none too well, the makeup of the infield still is uncertain, and on top of that George Earnshaw, right handed pitcher, is still in Hot Springs undergoing treatment for an injured back and will remain there indefinitely.

Joe Boley, regular shortstop, is still unable to throw to first base because of a sore arm. Hessler will fill in at short. The indications are that Orwoll will start the season at first. Bishop will be at second and Fox, Dykes and Hale will fight it out for the third base job.

San Antonio.—The New York Giants have discovered a new way for a beaten ball team to get revenge, learned from the aristocrats. After the Giants had swamped the flyers in a practice game yesterday, the local boys evened up things by taking them up in their places and threatening to do stunts.

Tucson, Ariz.—Manager Bucky Harris calls the 1935 edition of the Cubs the "greatest ball club I have ever seen placed on a field." "That includes the New York Yankees, too," Harris explained.

Bradenton, Fla.—Among the youngsters with the Red Sox is a pitcher barely out of his teens who has mightily impressed Manager Bill Carrigan. He comes from South Carolina and is named appropriately, Edward "Bull" Durham. He was a boy wonder at Chester, his home town, where he started pitching for his high school team at 13 and won one victory after another for four years.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Bob James, rookie infielder from Omaha, may be the choice over Dr. Eddie Farrell, in the race for the regular shortstop berth with the Boston Braves. James has outstepped both his rivals in training here and has shown a batting eye. Maranville and Farrell, on the other hand, have been erratic.

Avon Park, Fla.—It seems that the Yankees without Manager Huggins are not the Yankees at all. Last fall, with Huggins at the helm, they took four straight world's series games from the Cardinals. Yesterday, when Hug remained in St. Petersburg, they lost to the Cards by a one sided score.

Three State Canals Open April 5

Announcement has been made by Commissioner Thomas F. Farrell, of the division of canals and waterways, that the opening date for the Erie, Oswego and Cayuga & Seneca canals will be set for 12 o'clock noon of Friday, April 5. This will provide one of the earliest openings in canal history and on only one occasion has the opening of canal navigation been delayed earlier, which was on March 17, 1928. The date of opening the canal has been deferred until April 5, 1929, due to repairs which will not be completed until that time.

During the winter months extensive repairs were made to the lock operating equipment and structures. The work under contract for lengthening the approach walls at Lock No. 11, Amsterdam, has been completed, and shortly similar contracts will be let for lengthening approach walls at Lock 12, Trimbles Hill, and Lock 14, Minerva. A tender system is being installed at the pier of guard locks to prevent the damaging of boats. It is hoped that this will eliminate a serious menace to navigation.

With the addition of the new dredging equipment to the department's floating plant, there will now be available suitable plant to provide for the maintenance dredging of the canal channels by department forces. The Barge Canal, which has had a steady growth in tonnage, reached a record movement last year when the total tonnage floated was 2,089,595 tons, or approximately 20 per cent over the season of 1927. Indications are that with favorable weather conditions this record movement will be exceeded in 1929.

Evil Passing for Good
Evil is easy, and its forms are infinite; good is almost unique. But a certain kind of evil is as difficult to find as what is called good; and often on this account this particular kind of evil gets passed off as good. There is needed an extraordinary greatness of soul to attain to it as well as to good.—Pascal.

RED CROSS CHAPTERS STRENGTHEN FORCES FOR DISASTER RELIEF

Launch National Campaign to Perfect Preparedness Plans in Every Community.

A nation-wide campaign to strengthen plans for preparedness against disaster and for emergency relief has been launched by the American Red Cross through its Chapters. The program is intended to perfect disaster preparedness committees in the ten thousand communities reached by Red Cross Chapters and their branches. When carried out, through committees of men and women in the communities, it will insure that should a disaster come, an organization for emergency relief, including every modern method science has perfected—such as the radio, the airplane, the motor car and watercraft—can be mobilized to bring assistance, with the promptitude applied by the Red Cross in recent major disasters, such as the West Indies hurricane and the Mississippi Valley flood.

These enlarged and strengthened plans for disaster relief are set forth in the revised Red Cross manual, "When Disaster Strikes," which has been placed in the hands of every Red Cross chairman throughout the nation. The plan to encourage adoption of these added disaster preparedness methods was begun at this time because Red Cross records—covering 48 years of disaster relief—show that the period of the greatest number of disasters, large and small, ranges from the early Spring through the early Fall.

The Record of 48 Years
A historical summary of Red Cross disaster relief since 1882, shows that the society was active in giving relief in 338 domestic disasters and its expenditures in those relief operations were $49,594,000. The three groups of calamities appearing most frequently were: cyclones, tornadoes, hurricanes and other storms, 231; fires, 131; floods, 126.

During this period, the Red Cross also has given assistance to distressed peoples of other countries in 153 disasters. Total expenditures for relief at home and throughout the world, in 48 years, amount to $77,354,000. In the four most recent major disasters, among the greatest which have ever visited the American continent, Red Cross expenditures for relief totalled $29,188,908. Only in the event of large disasters such as the Florida hurricane of 1926, the Mississippi Valley flood of 1927, the New England flood of the same Fall, and the West Indies hurricane of 1928, does the Red Cross seek contributions from the general public for relief work; and frequently these are not ample, as in the four disasters listed, the Red Cross donated $1,338,201 from its own treasury to aid in the work. In the event of smaller disasters, the cost of the relief is met largely from Red Cross resources.

No Community Immune
No community is immune to great disasters of one type or another, the manual shows. One preparedness measure that can be adopted is a survey of the surrounding country, with the assistance of engineers and other experts to determine the type of disaster to which the section is subject. Hazards resulting from the presence of rivers and lakes, subject to overflow, of mines, munition factories, and other industries wherein dangers from explosion and fires may exist, are singled out for consideration.

Extension of existing disaster organizations in communities, and organization of men and women, trained in public health and community service, will result in the saving of lives and the prevention of extensive suffering, through privation, epidemic and other misfortune, should emergency arise through disaster. These organizations, outlined in the manual, are similar to those now existing in most Red Cross Chapters, only strengthened in some particulars. They contemplate disaster preparedness and relief committees, under which function sub-committees on food, clothing, shelter, medical aid, registration of disaster sufferers and information service, transportation and communication and finance.

Co-ordination of all of the societies, organized groups and institutions in the locality is urged, so that all effort for emergency relief will be directed without conflict. Trained in advance, these committees can swing into action, and provide an orderly and systematic relief organization.

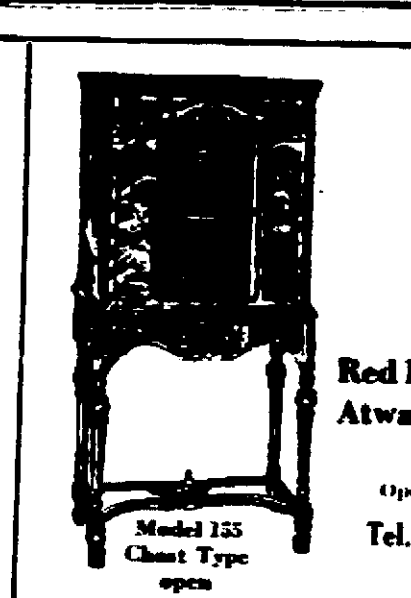

The following are expenditures made by the American National Red Cross for relief in the four most recent major disasters:

Florida hurricane, 1926	$4,477,170.97
Mississippi Valley flood, 1927	17,499,502.16
New England flood, 1927	1,230,773.93
West Indies hurricane, 1928	5,913,942.47
	$29,188,909.53

The Problem
We have been trying to acquire a liberal education by reading 15 minutes a day, as our great inspirational writers assure us to easily possible, but unfortunately we appear to be the kind of men that devote the entire 24 minutes, if not 78 or 17, to wondering which book he can read to the best advantage to the limited time of his disposal.

Find Man's Body In Creek

The body of George Whitaker, who disappeared about ten days ago, was found by three boarders, in the creek near Intendant's Hotel at Fallsville, Monday about noon. Coroner Mahlon H. Atkinson, M. D., and Sheriff Milton O. Bailey of Greene county, were notified and they drove to the place. Whitaker, who was somewhat of a hermit and lived alone, disappeared about ten days ago and all trace of him was lost. A search failed to reveal his whereabouts or to bring to light any information concerning him. No one could be found who had seen him and his disappearance remained a mystery.
